SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF APRIL 1898.

During a great part of the month fine settled weather prevailed with atmospheric conditions almost identical from day to day. These consisted of a slight depression over the west or north-west of the Province, and usually a fairly normal pressure gradient over both the Province and the Bay. Westerly winds were steady in the western districts, while in Orissa directions were usually south-west and in Bengal south, but turning to east towards the north. Temperature under these circumstances was invariably above the normal, and at times, especially towards the end of the month, excess was very large—more than 10° in places. No rain fell except in North Bengal, showers becoming more frequent towards the end of the month.

The part of the month during which weather was of the kind stated above included the first and the last ten days. During the intermediate period, also of ten days, unsettled weather prevailed; pressure and temperature underwent large oscillations, and at one time the pressure distribution was most unusual for the season of the year, readings being highest in the north of the Province and lowest in the south of Madras. This abnormal arrangement was due to a rapid rise of pressure which had begun in the north and extended southwards. It was of only short duration. The rainfall of the month occurred during these days, and most of the reports were for the 12th or 13th and for the 17th to 19th.

When unsettled weather occurs over Bengal in April, it is usually caused by a depression crossing from the west. During these days from the 10th to the 20th there was no well-defined depression, but at times a rapid rise of pressure followed by a sudden change in the wind circulation. The numerous thunder-storms which occurred in all parts of the Province on the 17th and 19th were probably due to the interaction of the winds owing to those rapidly advancing pressure changes. The rainfall was not so heavy as usual, and was especially deficient in East Bengal, where on an average only 1·47 inches fell as compared with the normal amount of 4·33 inches.

A persistent feature in the east of the Bay was the north-westerly wind circulation across the Burma coast, showing a steady low pressure over the south of Burma.

At the beginning of the month pressure was lowest in the west of Bihar, with westerly winds in South Bihar, Chota Nagpur and Orissa, and south winds at most of the other inland stations. The difference from the normal pressure was not large, but the gradient was rather steeper than usual, and defect varied from ·04 inch in the Circars to nearly ·1 inch in the west of Bihar and the south of Burma. Compared with the normal, therefore, there were two slight depressions—one in Bihar and the other in Burma. Temperature was above the normal by about 3° in Bengal, excess diminishing towards the south and changing to defect over the centre of the Bay. The distribution of pressure remained almost unchanged till the end of the first week. There were the usual oscillations, a rise of one or two hundredths of an inch one day and a fall of similar amount the next. Temperature, however, increased over the Province, while over the Bay there remained a steady small defect.

On the 7th pressure began to fall in Assam and the adjacent part of North Bengal, and on the following day it had developed into a rapid change over the whole of the north of the Province, with a much steeper gradient. Readings were then normal in the south of Madras, but from there defect increased steadily towards the north-east, where it was as much as ·2 inch. The area of lowest pressure then lay along the foot of the hills, and winds were westerly over almost the whole Province. These westerly winds were dry; consequently no thunder-storms occurred and temperature remained high. After the rapid rise on the 9th, the pressure distribution was the same as before these larger oscillations began.

Though there was little change of any kind on the 10th, slight signs of the approach of unsettled weather began to appear. Winds were irregular, and temperature was falling in Bihar. On the 11th pressure fell briskly over a wide area extending from Bihar to the south of the peninsula, and immediately afterwards a rapid rise began in the north-east, so that on the 12th there was a steep gradient from east to west, and readings were almost as low in Madras as in Chota Nagpur. Winds were east at all stations, and local storms were almost general in East and North Bengal. The rise of pressure continuing advanced towards the south-west, and it was on the 13th that the abnormal distribution, referred to above, obtained. Readings diminished from more than 30 inches in North Bengal to 29·84 inches at Colombo. The latter was about normal, while in North Bengal there was excess of a quarter of an inch. The rainfall area also moved westward, as on the 13th most of the showers fell in South-West Bengal. The local storms caused a fall of temperature at all stations, giving a fairly uniform defect of 2°.

The fall which began on the 14th continued more or less rapidly till the 16th, when the distribution was almost normal with a shallow depression over the western districts. Weather again became unsettled with thunder-storms and general rain at first on the 16th in North Bengal and part of North Bihar, and on the 17th over almost the whole Province Some of these thunder-showers were heavy, especially in Orissa, where a number of stations received more than 2 inches. Scattered showers continued for several days, and rainfall was again general in South-West and North Bengal on the 19th.

The general disturbance of the 17th was followed by a large fall of temperature. Defect was general on the 16th, but not usually more than 2,° but on the 17th it was 13 in North Bengal and between 5° and 10° at all except a few western stations. This defect remained considerable for some days, and by the 20th it was passing away towards the south-west, following the same course as the other atmospheric changes during this period of disturbance

Pressure oscillations remained large for several days more, but they were of less importance, as they gave rise to no thunder-storms after the 19th, except in parts of Orissa. By the 22nd conditions had become established similar to those prevailing in the early part of the month, with pressure lowest in the west of Bihar and low relatively to the normal over the whole Province and the Bay. Temperature steadily rose in the northern districts, and remained high till the end of the month. The greatest excess was after the 27th, when for several days excess was more than 10° in part of the centre or north of the Province.

Pressure continued to oscillate considerably during the last week, but without any lasting effect on the general distribution. Weather was fine without rainfall except in North Bengal, where showers were daily becoming more numerous and widespread.

Pressure.—After the first week pressure changes were larger and more frequent than usual, and at times there was either a large excess or a large defect. The rapid rise which began in the north-east of the Province at the end of the second week, and extending south-westward caused a reversal of the gradient, was particularly remarkable. The abnormal distribution continued for not more than two days, as the rise was followed by a rapid fall over the Province. These oscillations continued, though more slowly during the last week, and pressure was alternately above and below the normal by moderate amounts.

The mean pressure for the month is normal at many stations and slightly below in part of Bihar and East Bengal. The greatest defect is ·02 inch in the west of South Bihar.

Temperature was high over the Province and comparatively low over the Bay during the early part of the month, the greatest excess in mean daily temperature being about 5°. It began to fall about the 11th, and from that date till the 21st there was general cool weather, especially on the 17th, when there was a very large defect. During the last week temperature steadily rose, and towards the end of the month was as much as 10° above the daily normal average in the northern districts.

Average temperature for the larger divisions is above the normal, except for Orissa, where it is practically normal. Excess is 2·5° in North Bengal and Assam, about 2° in Chota Nagpur, Bihar and East Bengal, and 1° in South-West Bengal.

Rainfall was almost general on the 12th or 13th and between the 17th and 19th; and scattered showers were fairly numerous in Orissa and Chota Nagpur throughout the period of disturbed weather in the middle of the month. At other times there was no rainfall except in North Bengal, where it was becoming more general during the last week. The total fall was above the normal in Orissa by nearly half-an-inch, practically normal in Chota Nagpur and Bihar, and deficient over the whole of Bengal proper, but not by a large amount except in East Bengal, where defect was nearly 3 inches. In North Bengal it was ·56 inch and in South-West Bengal ·67 inch. North Bengal received on an average 2·6 inches, East Bengal and Orissa 1·5 South-West Bengal 1·2, and Bihar and Chota Nagpur about half-an-inch.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

4. No free presentations will be awarded at the beginning of the session, but the fees shall be refunded to the 10 students who passed highest in all subjects at the end of their first year of study.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following:—

	Rs.

For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice ...	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a medical school in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance of lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule provided the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or, in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in paragraph 5. (or 1st M.B.) examination

10. 14. Students who fail at the 2nd L.M S. or 2nd M.B. examination will have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they have failed, in accordance with the regulations of the University.

No. 729-53.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Home Department (Public), under date Simla, the 6th May 1898.

READ—

Home Department Resolution No. 29/[illegible], dated the 22nd July 1867, regarding the receipt of testimonials and addresses by servants of Government.

RESOLUTION.

By the rules attached to the Resolution above quoted, all servants of Government are prohibited, subject to stated exceptions, from receiving complimentary or valedictory addresses in any form, or testimonials of any kind, and from attending public meetings or complimentary entertainments of a formal and public character held in their honour. Several instances have recently occurred in which arrangements for the presentation of testimonials have been made and subscriptions collected, apparently in ignorance of the fact that the proceedings were irregular and that the rules prohibit Government officials from receiving testimonials of any kind. It has also happened more than once lately that a formal character has been given to farewell entertainments, such as are permitted by rule 3, by the publication in the newspapers of speeches made at them. The Governor-General in Council in these circumstances finds it necessary to call the attention of Local Governments and Administrations to the rules, and to request that it may be again impressed on all officers that they must be strictly observed. With a view to bringing them to the notice of the public, the Governor-General in Council directs that they be republished in the Gazette of India and the Gazettes of Local Governments and Administrations. The rules do not apply to the receipt of addresses by the Head of any Government or Administration.

1. Save as in these rules otherwise provided, all servants of Government, Covenanted or Uncovenanted, are forbidden to receive complimentary or valedictory addresses in any form; or to accept testimonials of any kind; or to attend public meetings or complimentary entertainments of a formal and public character held in their honour.

2. The Government views with disfavour all similar manifestations in the case of retired officers, when following immediately upon their retirement from active service, and designed as an acknowledgment of acts done by them while in the service of Government.

3. It is not intended to prohibit such an expression of regard for the private or official character of an officer retiring from service, or leaving his station or district, as is involved in a farewell entertainment supported by his personal friends, even though some of these may be his official subordinates. But it is expected that the proceedings on such occasions will be substantially of a private and informal character.

4. Local Governments and Administrations are authorised to forward to an officer who has left a station or district the resolution of any local public body recording a vote of thanks to him for help and advice afforded during his official connection with the station or district.

5. Medical officers are not prohibited from receiving pecuniary recognition of their services from a community or body of persons which may desire to acknowledge these, but the previous sanction of the Local Government or Administration must be obtained by medical officers before receiving any public complimentary address.

6. Nothing in the above rule is meant to prohibit compliance with the request of a public body that a Government officer should sit for his portrait, bust, or statue in recognition of his public services; provided that the portrait, bust, or statue is not intended for presentation to the officer concerned.

7. The participation of Government officers in the raising of funds for the foundation of scholarships, or for procuring a portrait, bust, or statue as a spontaneous recognition of the services of a Government officer is not forbidden; but it should be clearly understood that any solicitation on the part of officers of Government for subscriptions from any person who does not voluntarily come forward to contribute is disapproved by the Government of India.

8. The previous sanction of the Government of India must be obtained to the relaxation of these rules in any special case in which the Local Government or Administration may think this desirable.

INDIA—Bay of Bengal.

Non-existence of rock N.-W. of Table island.

The Bombay Government has given notice (No. 42 of 1898) that a careful search has been made by the Indian Marine Survey under exceptionally favourable circumstances for the rock two miles N.W. of Table Island, on which the S.S. Medusa is reported to have struck, without success. It is therefore considered probable the Master of the Medusa under-estimated his distance from the light-house.

The Light-house Keeper reports that ships constantly pass close to the rocks with three fathoms on them lying twelve cables N.W. of the light-house, shown on Admiralty Chart No. 825. Vessels are hereby cautioned to keep well to the northward of Table Island, as the tides in this locality are strong and often set on to the rocks.

From the wreck the light-house bears N. 28 W. (true), distant 9½ cables, and shows signs of rapidly breaking up.

Decreased depths eastward of Ta sha or Great sand.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 191 of 1898) that information has been received that the Captain of the Imperial German cruiser Kaiserin Augusta reports that eastward of the Ta sha or Great sand, in approximately lat. 34° N., long. 122° 17′ E., soundings of 7½ to 9 fathoms were obtained.

A note "7 to 9 fathoms reported, 1898" has been placed on the Charts in that position.

Dangers near Kamorta and Great Nicobar islands.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 197 of 1898) that information has been received, dated 9th February 1898, that the Commander of the R.I.M. steam-vessel Elphinstone reports the existence of the undermentioned dangers in the Nicobar islands:—

1. A sunken rock, with a depth of one fathom on it at low water, situated on the west coast of Kamorta in a position with summit (435), east side of Kamorta, bearing N. 75° E., distant 3¼ miles; and mount Edgcumbe (360) S. 40° E.

   Approximate position, lat. 8° 6′ 45″ N., long. 93° 26′ 10″ E.

   A depth of 14 fathoms was found between this rock and the entrance of Dring harbour, and as there may possibly be less water, breakers having been reported in that locality, the words "Breakers reported" have been written on the Chart between the above rock and Dring harbour.

2. A shoal, with a depth of 2½ fathoms on it, apparently not examined, situated in Kondul harbour, north coast of Great Nicobar, in a position with summit of Kondul island (400), bearing N. 36° W., distant 1$\frac{7}{10}$ miles; and village on east side of harbour N. 71° E.

   Approximate position, lat. 7° 11′ 45″ N., long. 93° 42′ 35″ E.

3. A patch of small extent, with a least depth of 4½ fathoms obtained on it, but possibly there may be less water, situated on the west side of Great Nicobar, in a position with the south-west extreme of the western point of Casuarina bay, bearing N. 30° W., distant 2¾ miles; and Kopenheat point S. 83° E.

RECEIPTS.

3. Part I.—Jetties.—The receipts are estimated at Rs. 40,000 in excess of those for 1897-98, and have been based on the actuals for nine months, plus one-third of the same for the remaining three months.

4. Part II.—Inland Vessels' Wharves.—The receipts are estimated at Rs. 29,000 over last year's estimate. The increase is based on actuals.

5. Part III.—Strand Bank lands.—The receipts are taken at Rs. 8,000 over last year's estimate, and have been based on the actual collections to end of December 1897.

6. Part IV.—Harbour Master's Department.—The revenue shows a decrease of Rs. 20,350, which is entirely due to a decrease in the earnings of the steam-tug Rescue.

7. Part VI.—Railway.—Under this head also there is a decrease of Rs. 30,000, which is due not to any falling off in the traffic, but to the Commissioners' action in foregoing railway freight on goods landed at the jetties and booked direct up-country, and also to a too high proportion of charges earned for shipment at the docks, being credited to the railway in previous years.

8. Part VII.—Port Approaches.—The receipts are estimated at Rs. 41,750 over last year's estimates. This is based on the actual revenue realized from Port dues.

9. Part VIII.—Kidderpore Docks.—The receipts are estimated at Rs. 13,31,500, and have been based on the actuals of the past year with Rs. 1,20,000 added for growth of business and Rs. 1,00,000 for payments on coal to be made by the East Indian Railway. The increase over those of last year is Rs. 5,05,000, and is due to the introduction of the system of dealing with the whole of the export trade at the docks instead of at the Jetties. It is satisfactory to observe that, though the entire export trade is now sent to the docks, there has been no falling off in the receipts at the Jetties.

10. Special toll.—The actual receipts for the nine months from April to December 1897 have been Rs. 8,28,053, and on these figures an estimate for the whole year of Rs. 11,04,070 has been arrived at. It has, however, been decided to entirely exempt coal from the special toll, which now yields about Rs. 1,25,000, and, allowing for this, the estimate will be reduced to Rs. 9,79,070. The growth of receipts from this toll on goods other than coal has, however, been uninterrupted; and, as there is no reason why it should not continue, an estimate of Rs. 10,01,000 for the current year has been made.

EXPENDITURE.

11. Part I.—Jetties.—The estimated expenditure amounts to Rs. 11,71,481 against Rs. 11,87,314 of the previous year, or a reduction of Rs. 15,833. Under Jetty Establishment, twenty additional tallymen at Rs. 15 each have been provided for in accordance with the revised schedule approved by the Finance and Establishment Committee. The staff of gunners has similarly been increased. There is, on the other hand, a large decrease, aggregating Rs. 44,001, under Working Expenses and Repairs to the Petroleum Depôt.

12. Part II.—Inland Vessels' Wharves.—The expenditure is estimated at Rs. 4,39,728. The decrease is Rs. 8,378, due to a reduction in the provision for repairs and renewals, as only petty repairs will be needed this year.

13. Part III.—Strand Bank lands.—There is an increase under this part of Rs. 15,954, due to the large provision of Rs. 18,500 for improving the sanitation of the Commissioners' property between Mayo Hospital land and the Juggernath Ghat.

14. Part IV.—Port or Harbour Master's Department.—The provision made is Rs. 6,77,753, against Rs. 6,51,056 during the previous year. Under Port Police establishment, there is an increase of Rs. 9,432, due to a revision of the establishment of Kidderpore Dock Police, and to its entire cost being charged to the Port Trust. Repairs to boats, vessels, &c., show an increase of Rs. 13,000, and salaries of Rs. 20,585. The latter is not entirely an increase, as hitherto the cost of working the Rescue, which included Establishment as well as Repairs and Working Expenses, was shown in a lump sum. In the present budget, the cost of working has been separated, and the charges shown under their respective heads. This also accounts for the decrease of Rs. 33,876 under Working Expenses.

15. Part VI.—Railway.—There is an increase of Rs. 10,342 under this head, mainly due to the items (1) Proportion of Interest and Sinking Fund on Loans and (2) Salaries. That under the latter has been made in accordance with the recommendations of the Finance and Establishment Committee. Working expenses show a decrease of Rs. 14,688.

16. Part VII.—Port Approaches.—The estimated expenditure is Rs. 5,64,314, showing a decrease of Rs. 12,069, which is due entirely to the large reductions under Repairs to vessels and blowing up wrecks.

17. Part VIII.—Kidderpore Docks.—The expenditure proposed is Rs. 26,59,941, against Rs. 23,50,944 during the previous year, or an increase of Rs. 3,08,997. Owing to the transfer of the export trade to the docks, they are now being largely utilized; and, in order that the system introduced from 1st July 1897 should be a success, it is necessary that every facility in the way of appliances and staff should be afforded to the shippers. It is satisfactory to observe that, while the receipts are estimated to increase by Rs. 5,05,000, the increase in expenditure is Rs. 3,08,997 only. The docks should, however, be made self-supporting, and it behoves the Commissioners to carefully scrutinize every proposal for expenditure in order to relieve the Port of some of its burdens.

ESTABLISHMENT.

18. It is observed that in all departments there are proposals to increase the staff, both superior and subordinate, and His Honour understands that in all cases these proposals have been carefully scrutinized and approved by the Finance and Establishment Committee. The largest increases are:—

(1) New post of Assistant Secretary on Rs. 600 rising to Rs. 700 per mensem.

(2) Increase on the salary of the Accountant from Rs. 550 to Rs. 650 per mensem.

(3) New appointments of Shop Foreman and Shipwright on Rs. 250 per mensem each.

(4) Increase on the pay of a Gate Inspector from Rs. 100 to Rs. 200 per mensem.

The Lieutenant-Governor has carefully considered these proposals, and sees no reason to disallow them.

CAPITAL ACCOUNT.

19. As mentioned in the opening paragraph, the budget now before Government takes into account the receipts and expenditure under Capital. The receipts are estimated at Rs. 28,58,610, made up as under:—

		Rs.
Unexpended balance from 1897-98 ...	...	2,20,000
Contributions from Revenue ...	...	1,38,610
Stock charged to works ...	...	5,00,000
Sale of land to the Bengal-Nagpur Railway	...	10,00,000
Proposed debenture loan ...	...	10,00,000
Total	...	28,58,610

20. In regard to the last item, the Commissioners will submit separately an application for the debenture loan of Rs. 10 lakhs, showing the necessity, and how it is to be utilized. The Lieutenant-Governor will then submit the application for the sanction of the Government of India, as required by the Act.

21. The credit of Rs. 10,00,000 anticipated from the sale of land to the Bengal-Nagpur Railway is a doubtful one. Proposals are at present under consideration by the Government of India for the acquisition by the Railway of a river frontage at Shalimar for their riverside station. His Honour considers that it will suffice to allow of a credit of Rs. 5,00,000 under this head, and a corresponding decrease of Rs. 5,00,000 may be allowed on the side of expenditure in the item "Shalimar Coal Yard," on which it is not proposed to incur an expenditure of more than half the amount of the estimate of 11½ lakhs until the expansion of the trade, or the transfer of it from Howrah to Shalimar, shows it to be required. The balance under Capital Account will in this case remain as before.

22. The full amount of the Capital grant is proposed to be spent. Most of the works will require the sanction of higher authority. The preparation of the plans and estimates may be taken in hand, but no work costing over Rs. 50,000 should be commenced before obtaining proper sanction.

23. Subject to the remarks contained in the foregoing paragraphs, the Lieutenant-Governor, in pursuance of the powers vested in him by section 71 of Act III of 1890, approves of the estimate of income and expenditure of the Commissioners for the year 1898-99.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. D. McARTHUR, Colonel, R.E.,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

⏝ dew; t, thunder; o, overcast; <, lightning; d, drizzling rain; g, gloomy; p, passing temporary showers; ⁄, strong wind.

The fund so raised was called the Prince of Wales Reception Fund. The object of the fund was the promotion of technical instruction in Bihar.

2. The school as at present constituted is chiefly engaged in training students for Engineering appointments. The Engineer students have a course of study which extends over three years. The curriculum includes—

(1) A sound study of elementary mathematics.

(2) Careful training in Survey work.

(3) Drawing, both Freehand and Engineering.

(4) Elements of road making and the construction of simple buildings.

(5) Workshop practice with hand tools and with machinery.

The necessary additional buildings are in process of construction. It is hoped that after a short time it may be found practicable so to develop the Engineering teaching that students shall be prepared for the Provincial Branch of the Public Works Department. It is also in contemplation to add in time class instruction in Electricity and Chemistry.

3. In the Engineering Department which corresponds pretty closely to the Apprentice Department in the Sibpur College, the monthly fee is Re. 1-8. All scholarship holders, however, receive free tuition. Some Government scholarships are awarded each year on the results of the first year and second year class annual examinations.

4. The next session will commence on 6th July 1898.

5. In considering the claims of candidates for admission into the school, preference will be given to students who have passed the University Entrance Examination, and in no case will a student be admitted who has not at least been in the second class of a High English Government School or of a similar school under public management.

6. In the Engineering Department the teaching is given in English. There is also an Amin class, admission to which may be obtained by students who do not know English. In the Amin class the course of study is for one year only, and the monthly fee is Re. 1. The Amin student is taught elementary surveying with a corresponding amount of Mathematics and of Geometrical Drawing. An Amin student is not admitted to the Workshop. A student in the first year class of the Engineering Department who fails to pass the examination for promotion to the second year class, but who has shown an adequate knowledge of elementary surveying, may at his option leave the school with an Amin certificate.

7. As the fund was contributed solely by residents of Bihar, and as the space for students is limited, it has been ordered that in selecting students for the new first year Engineer class, preference shall ordinarily be given—

(1) to students who are Bihari by race, and

(2) to Bengalis who were bonâ fide domiciled in Bihar before they applied for admission to the school.

8. Except in very special cases a student will not be admitted either to the Amin class or to the first year Engineer class for the session that commences 6th July 1898 unless application for admission is made before 30th June 1898.

9. Every candidate for admission to the school must bring a certificate of good character from the Head of the Institution from which he has come.

A. C. EDWARDS,
Principal, Patna College.

The 22nd May 1898.

Those students who may be selected are expected to enter formally and commence attendance at the College upon the 14th, and none will be admitted at any later date.

2. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student who has not previously passed the First Arts examination of the Calcutta or an Indian University, or a preliminary Arts examination of the United Kingdom recognised by the British General Medical Council.

3. All matriculated students of the College must pay Rs. 15 on entrance, Rs. 35 on the 1st June, and Rs. 35 on 1st November of each year. Rs. 6 extra will be required from each student for each course of dissections. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

Muhammadan students are required to pay Rs 15 on entrance and half fee, i.e., Rs. 17-8, per session. The remaining half fees are charged to the Mohsin Fund.

4. No free presentations will be awarded at the beginning of the session, but the fees shall be refunded to the 10 students who passed highest in all subjects at the end of their first year of study.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following:—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject in one year ...	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice ...	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a medical school in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance of lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule provided the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or, in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in paragraph 5. If he has passed the Entrance examination of the University, he shall receive certificates of attendance at lectures. If he has not passed the Entrance examination, he shall receive no class certificates.

8. At the end of their first year, students will be required to pass a college test examination in Anatomy, Chemistry, and Botany. Those who gain not less than 20 per cent. in two subjects, and not less than 15 per cent. in a third, will be eligible for promotion to the second-year class. Those who fail to gain the aforesaid percentage of marks will not be eligible for promotion, but will go through the first-year class again.

9. Students of the second year will be required to pass a College test examination in Anatomy, Physiology, and Materia Medica. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. in two subjects and 15 per cent. in a third will be entitled to go up in the following March or April for the Preliminary Scientific Examination of the Calcutta University, the subjects of which are Chemistry and Botany. Those who (after passing the College test) fail at the University examination will be entitled, equally with those who pass it, to join the third-year class, at the end of which the former will have to present themselves, as at present, for the combined Preliminary Scientific and 1st L.M.S. (or 1st M.B.) examination.

10. Those students who fail at the College test examination of the second year will not be debarred from going up for the Preliminary Scientific examination, but will be encouraged to do so in order to get that stage over; but whether they pass or fail at the University examination, they will be relegated for a further year to the second year-class, provided that those who pass the University examination will not be required to attend the courses in those subjects in which they have passed.

11. Students of the third year will present themselves for the 1st L.M.S. or 1st M.B. examination of the Calcutta University. Those who fail at this examination will be relegated for a further year to the third-year class.

12. Students of the first or second-year class who fail a second time, at the same stage, to gain promotion to the next higher class, will be removed from the College and will not be entitled to re-admission, Third-year students who fail a second time will be liable to removal from the College; but if they are specially recommended by the Principal, they may again be relegated to the third-year class, on payment of the fees laid down in Rule 16, and re-admitted to the 1st L.M.S. or 1st M.B. examination, and this concession may be allowed for any number of years at the discretion of the Principal.

13. Students of the fourth-year class will be required to pass a College test examination in Surgery, Medicine, Midwifery, and Medical Jurisprudence. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. of the marks in three subjects, and 15 per cent. in a fourth, will be eligible for promotion to the fifth-year class. Those who fail will be relegated to the fourth-year class for a further year. The examination in Surgery and Medicine will be both theoretical and clinical; but those students who can obtain from the Visiting Surgeon or Physician, to whose wards they have been attached, a certificate that they have really profited by their instruction in either subject, will be excused the clinical examination in that subject.

14. Students who fail at the 2nd L.M.S. or 2nd M.B. examination will have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they have failed, in accordance with the regulations of the University.

15. The Principal will determine the maximum number that may be admitted to the first-year class. Students who have failed at the test examinationof the first-year will have a prior claim to re-admission over new students.

16. Students re-admitted to a class after failure at the test examination will be required to pay half the regular fee for the session (Rs. 35), but extra fees as for dissection (Rs. 6) in full. In the event of any scholarship being forfeited under this condition, it may be awarded for one year to any student of the fifth year who has fulfilled the conditions and is not the holder of any scholarship. These scholarships shall not be awarded to students who have gained the Durga Charan Laha scholarship of Rs. 30 per mensem or any other scholarship.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes and Vol. VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, Rs. 2-6 per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product, even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal 8vo. pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G.; Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI); but a tenth volume has been issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index is practically a Glossary of the Vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and, as such, is a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The 4th June 1898.—It is hereby notified for general information that the Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to sanction the following revised rules for the admission of students to the Bengal Veterinary Institution and of animals into the Veterinary Hospital attached to it, in supersession of those published respectively under Notifications No. 2Agri., dated the 2nd January 1894, and No. 3Agri. of the same date, as amended by Notification No. 49T.R., dated the 11th May 1894:—

Rules for admission of students to the Bengal Veterinary Institution.

1. The course of study for the certificate of qualification will extend over at least two years. Each year will comprise nine teaching months, and will be divided in accordance with the terms of the Calcutta Medical College.

2. Each candidate for admission as a student is required to produce the following certificates:—

(a) of age (no applicant under sixteen years of age can be admitted as a student);
(b) of physical fitness and of good morals;
(c) that he has passed the Entrance Examination of the Calcutta University, or has been promoted to the first class of a High School or has passed the Middle English Scholarship Examination.

As the teaching will be in English, a good colloquial knowledge of that language is important.

There will be no restrictions as to the caste or nationality of students.

It is desirable that students should on admission be between 18 and 26 years of age.

3. All applications for admission as a student are to be made in writing to the Superintendent of the Bengal Veterinary Institution, who will decide on the advisability of admission in all doubtful cases.

4. Government will allot 30 stipends of five rupees each annually.

There will be two classes of stipends—

(a) For first-year students, or Class A, tenable for nine months from 1st July to 31st March following.
(b) For second-year students, or Class B, tenable for 12 months from 1st April to 31st March following.

5. The stipends will be of the monthly value of Rs. 5, and will be held conditionally on the good behaviour of the holders.

6. An examination will be held for the first-year students on the 1st November each year, and in accordance with the results of that examination, the stipends mentioned in rule 4(a) above will be allotted.

7. An annual examination will be held in March for all first-year students, in order to determine their qualification for promotion to Class B. The stipends mentioned in rule 4 (b) will be allotted in accordance with the annual examination.

8. It shall be within the discretion of the Committee of Management to decide how many stipends are to be awarded to each class in any year.

9. A student already in the enjoyment of a stipend or scholarship shall not be eligible to compete for a Government scholarship.

10. All stipend-holders shall be bound to conform to the rules of the Institution and to attend during the hours of instruction, unless specially granted leave of absence.

11. In addition to the Government stipends the Sheo Baksh Bogla Veterinary Scholarship of Rs. 10 per mensem will be available. It was founded by Dr. Kenneth McLeod, late Professor of Surgery at the Calcutta Medical College, in 1892, in recognition of Babu Sheo Baksh Bogla's liberality in connection with the establishment of the first Veterinary School and Hospital in Bengal, and is subject to the following conditions:—

(1) that the candidate must have passed (a) the Entrance Examination of the Calcutta University, or (b) Middle English, or (c) the Middle Vernacular Scholarship Examination, preference being given to these examinations in the order stated;

(3) that in the event of more than one candidate possessing the necessary qualifications coming forward, preference be given to the candidate who has attained the largest number of marks in the examination;
(4) that the scholarship be tenable for a period of three years in connection with the Bengal Veterinary Institution.

12. It is hoped that Native States, Municipalities, District Boards and private employers will hereafter also be able to give stipends to deserving candidates to enable them to attend this Institution.

Those students who may be selected are expected to enter formally and commence attendance at the College upon the 14th, and none will be admitted at any later date.

2. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student who has not previously passed the First Arts examination of the Calcutta or an Indian University, or a preliminary Arts examination of the United Kingdom recognised by the British General Medical Council.

3. All matriculated students of the College must pay Rs. 15 on entrance, Rs. 35 on the 1st June, and Rs. 35 on 1st November of each year. Rs. 6 extra will be required from each student for each course of dissections. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

Muhammadan students are required to pay Rs. 15 on entrance and half fee, i.e., Rs. 17-8, per session. The remaining half fees are charged to the Mohsin Fund.

4. No free presentations will be awarded at the beginning of the session, but the fees shall be refunded to the 10 students who passed highest in all subjects at the end of their first year of study.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following:—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject in one year ...	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice ...	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a medical school in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance of lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule provided the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or, in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in paragraph 5. If he has passed the Entrance examination of the University, he shall receive certificates of attendance at lectures. If he has not passed the Entrance examination, he shall receive no class certificates.

8. At the end of their first year, students will be required to pass a college test examination in Anatomy, Chemistry, and Botany. Those who gain not less than 20 per cent. in two subjects, and not less than 15 per cent. in a third, will be eligible for promotion to the second-year class. Those who fail to gain the aforesaid percentage of marks will not be eligible for promotion, but will go through the first-year class again.

9. Students of the second year will be required to pass a College test examination in Anatomy, Physiology, and Materia Medica. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. in two subjects and 15 per cent. in a third will be entitled to go up in the following March or April for the Preliminary Scientific Examination of the Calcutta University, the subjects of which are Chemistry and Botany. Those who (after passing the College test) fail at the University examination will be entitled, equally with those who pass it, to join the third-year class, at the end of which the former will have to present themselves, as at present, for the combined Preliminary Scientific and 1st L.M.S. (or 1st M.B.) examination.

10. Those students who fail at the College test examination of the second year will not be debarred from going up for the Preliminary Scientific examination, but will be encouraged to do so in order to get that stage over; but whether they pass or fail at the University examination, they will be relegated for a further year to the second year-class, provided that those who pass the University examination will not be required to attend the courses in those subjects in which they have passed.

11. Students of the third year will present themselves for the 1st L.M.S. or 1st M.B. examination of the Calcutta University. Those who fail at this examination will be relegated for a further year to the third-year class.

12. Students of the first or second-year class who fail a second time, at the same stage, to gain promotion to the next higher class, will be removed from the College and will not be entitled to re-admission. Third-year students who fail a second time will be liable to removal from the College; but if they are specially recommended by the Principal, they may again be relegated to the third-year class, on payment of the fees laid down in Rule 16, and re-admitted to the 1st L.M.S. or 1st M.B. examination, and this concession may be allowed for any number of years at the discretion of the Principal.

13. Students of the fourth-year class will be required to pass a College test examination in Surgery, Medicine, Midwifery, and Medical Jurisprudence. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. of the marks in three subjects, and 15 per cent. in a fourth, will be eligible for promotion to the fifth-year class. Those who fail will be relegated to the fourth-year class for a further year. The examination in Surgery and Medicine will be both theoretical and clinical; but those students who can obtain from the Visiting Surgeon or Physician, to whose wards they have been attached, a certificate that they have really profited by their instruction in either subject, will be excused the clinical examination in that subject.

14. Students who fail at the 2nd L.M.S. or 2nd M.B. examination will have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they have failed, in accordance with the regulations of the University.

15. The Principal will determine the maximum number that may be admitted to the first-year class. Students who have failed at the test examinationof the first-year will have a prior claim to re-admission over new students.

WHEREAS We are happily at Peace with all Sovereigns, Powers, and States:

And whereas a State of War unhappily exists between His Majesty the King of Spain, and, in His Name and during His Minority, Her Majesty the Queen Regent of the Kingdom, and the United States of America, and between their respective Subjects, Citizens, and others inhabiting within their Countries, Territories, or Dominions:

And whereas We are on Terms of Friendship and amicable Intercourse with each of these Powers, and with their several Subjects, Citizens, and others inhabiting within their Countries, Territories, or Dominions:

And whereas great Numbers of our Loyal Subjects reside and carry on Commerce, and possess Property and Establishments, and enjoy various Rights and Privileges, within the Dominions of each of the aforesaid Powers, protected by the Faith of Treaties between Us and each of the aforesaid Powers:

And whereas We, being desirous of preserving to Our Subjects the Blessings of Peace, which they now happily enjoy, are firmly purposed and determined to maintain a strict and impartial Neutrality in the said State of War unhappily existing between the aforesaid Powers:

And whereas We are resolved to insure, by every lawful means in Our Power, the due observance by Our Subjects towards both the aforesaid Powers of the Rules embodied in Article VI of the Treaty of the 8th May 1871, between Us and the United States of America, which said Rules are as follows:

"A neutral Government is bound—

"First. To use due diligence to prevent the fitting-out, arming, or equipping, within its jurisdiction, of any vessel which it has reasonable ground to believe is intended to cruize or to carry on War against a Power with which it is at Peace; and also to use like diligence to prevent the departure from its jurisdiction of any vessel intended to cruize or carry on War as above, such vessel having been specially adapted, in whole or in part within such jurisdiction, to warlike use.

"Secondly. Not to permit or suffer either Belligerent to make use of its Ports or Waters as the base of Naval Operations against the other, or for the purpose of the renewal or augmentation of Military Supplies or Arms, or the Recruitment of men.

"Thirdly. To exercise due diligence in its own Ports and Waters, and as to all Persons within its jurisdiction, to prevent any violation of the foregoing obligations and duties."

We, therefore, have thought fit, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council, to issue this Our Royal Proclamation:

And We do hereby strictly charge and command all Our loving Subjects to govern themselves accordingly, and to observe a strict Neutrality in and during the aforesaid War, and to abstain from violating or contravening either the Laws and Statutes of the Realm in this behalf, or the Law of Nations in relation thereto, as they will answer to the contrary at their Peril:

And whereas in and by a certain Statute made and passed in a Session of Parliament holden in the 33rd and 34th year of Our reign, intituled "An Act to Regulate the conduct of Her Majesty's Subjects during the existence of Hostilities between Foreign States with which Her Majesty is at Peace," it is, amongst other things, declared and enacted as follows.

This Act shall extend to all the Dominions of Her Majesty, including the adjacent territorial Waters:

Illegal Enlistment.

"If any Person, without the Licence of Her Majesty, being a British Subject, within or without Her Majesty's Dominions, accepts or agrees to accept any Commission or Engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with any Foreign State at Peace with Her Majesty, and in this Act referred to as the friendly State, or whether a British Subject or not, within Her Majesty's Dominions, induces any other person to accept or agree to accept any Commission or Engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any such Foreign State as aforesaid,—

"He shall be guilty of an Offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without Hard Labour.

"If any Person without the Licence of Her Majesty, being a British Subject, quits or goes on board any Ship with a view of quitting Her Majesty's Dominions, with intent to accept any Commission or Engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with a friendly State, or, whether a British Subject or not, within Her Majesty's Dominions, induces any other Person to quit or to go on board any Ship with a view of quitting Her Majesty's Dominions with the like intent,—

"He shall be guilty of an Offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such punishments at the discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without Hard Labour.

"If any Person induces any other Person to quit Her Majesty's Dominions or to embark on any Ship within Her Majesty's Dominions under a Misrepresentation or false Representation of the Service in which such Person is to be engaged, with the intent or in order that such Person may accept or agree to accept any Commission or Engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with a friendly State,—

"He shall be guilty of an Offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such Punishments, at the Discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without Hard Labour.

"If the Master or Owner of any Ship, without the Licence of Her Majesty, knowingly either takes on board, or engages to take on board, or has on board such Ship within Her Majesty's Dominions any of the following Persons, in this Act referred to as illegally enlisted Persons, that is to say:

"(1) Any Person who being a British Subject within or without the Dominions of Her Majesty, has, without the Licence of Her Majesty, accepted or agreed to accept any Commission or Engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with any friendly State:

"(2) Any Person, being a British Subject, who, without the Licence of Her Majesty, is about to quit Her Majesty's Dominions with intent to accept any Commission or Engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with a friendly State:

"(3) Any Person who has been induced to embark under a Misrepresentation or false Representation of the service in which such Person is to be engaged, with the intent or in order that such Person may accept or agree to accept any Commission or Engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with a friendly State:

"Such Master or Owner shall be guilty of an Offence against this Act, and the following Consequences shall ensue; that is to say,—

"(1) The offender shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the Discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without Hard Labour; and

"(2) Such Ship shall be detained until the Trial and Conviction or Acquittal of the Master or Owner, and until all Penalties inflicted on the Master or Owner have been paid, or the Master or Owner has given Security for the Payment of such Penalties to the Satisfaction of Two Justices of the Peace, or other Magistrate or Magistrates having the Authority of Two Justices of the Peace; and

"(3) All illegally enlisted Persons shall immediately on the Discovery of the Offence be taken on Shore, and shall not be allowed to return to the Ship.

"Illegal Shipbuilding and Illegal Expeditions.

"If any Person within Her Majesty's Dominions, without the Licence of Her Majesty, does any of the following Acts; that is to say:

"(1) Builds or agrees to build, or causes to be built, any Ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with any friendly State: or

"(2) Issues or delivers any Commission for any Ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with any friendly State: or

"(3) Equips any Ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with any friendly State: or

"(4) Despatches, or causes or allows to be despatched, any Ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with any friendly State:

"Such Person shall be deemed to have committed an Offence against this Act, and the following Consequences shall ensue:—

"(1) The Offender shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such Punishments, at the Discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without Hard Labour.

"(2) The Ship in respect of which any such offence is committed, and her Equipment, shall be forfeited to Her Majesty:

"Provided that a Person building, causing to be built, or equipping a Ship in any of the cases aforesaid, in pursuance of a contract made before the commencement of such War as aforesaid, shall not be liable to any of the Penalties imposed by this Section in respect of such building or equipping if he satisfies the conditions following (that is to say):

"(1) If forthwith upon a Proclamation of Neutrality being issued by Her Majesty he gives Notice to the Secretary of State that he is so building, causing to be built, or equipping such Ship, and furnishing such particulars of the Contract and of any Matters relating to, or done, or to be done under the Contract as may be required by the Secretary of State:

"(2) If he gives such Security, and takes and permits to be taken such other measures, if any, as the Secretary of State may prescribe for ensuring that such Ship shall not be despatched, delivered, or removed without the Licence of Her Majesty until the termination of such War as aforesaid.

"Where any Ship is built by Order of or on behalf of any Foreign State when at War with a friendly State, or is delivered to or to the Order of such Foreign State, or any Person who to the knowledge of the Person building is an Agent of such Foreign State, or is paid for by such Foreign State or such Agent, and is employed in the Military or Naval Service of such Foreign State, such Ship shall, until the contrary is proved, be deemed to have been built with a view to being so employed, and the Burden shall lie on the Builder of such Ship of proving that he did not know that the Ship was intended to be so employed in the Military or Naval Service of such Foreign State.

"If any Person within the Dominions of Her Majesty, and without the Licence of Her Majesty,—

"By adding to the number of the Guns, or by changing those on board for other Guns, or by the addition of any Equipment for War, increases or augments, or procures to be increased or augmented, or is knowingly concerned in increasing or augmenting the warlike Force of any Ship which at the time of her being within the Dominions of Her Majesty was a Ship in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with any friendly State—

"Such Person shall be guilty of an Offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such Punishments, at the Discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without Hard Labour.

"If any Person within the limits of Her Majesty's Dominions, and without the Licence of Her Majesty:

"Prepares or fits out any Naval or Military Expedition to proceed against the Dominions of any friendly State, the following Consequences shall ensue:

"(1) Every Person engaged in such preparation or fitting out, or assisting therein, or employed in any capacity in such Expedition, shall be guilty of an Offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without Hard Labour.

"(2) All Ships, and their Equipments, and all Arms and Munitions of War, used in or forming part of such Expedition, shall be forfeited to Her Majesty.

"Any Person who aids, abets, counsels, or procures the Commission of any Offence against this Act shall be liable to be tried and punished as a principal Offender."

And whereas by the said Act it is further provided that Ships built, commissioned, equipped, or despatched in contravention of the said Act, may be condemned and forfeited by Judgment of the Court of Admiralty; and that if the Secretary of State or Chief Executive Authority is satisfied that there is a reasonable and probable cause for believing that a Ship within our Dominions has been or is being built, commissioned, or equipped, contrary to the said Act, and is about to be taken beyond the limits of such dominions, or that a ship is about to be despatched contrary to the Act, such Secretary of State, or Chief Executive Authority, shall have power to issue a warrant authorizing the seizure and search of such Ship and her detention until she has been either condemned or released by Process of Law. And whereas certain powers of seizure and detention are conferred by the said Act on certain Local Authorities;

Now, in order that none of Our Subjects may unwarily render themselves liable to the Penalties imposed by the said Statute,—We do hereby strictly command that no Person or Persons whatsoever do commit any Act, Matter, or Thing whatsoever contrary to the Provisions of the said Statute, upon pain of the several Penalties by the said Statute imposed and of Our high Displeasure.

And We do hereby further warn and admonish all our loving Subjects, and all Persons whatsoever entitled to our Protection, to observe towards each of the aforesaid Powers, their Subjects, Citizens, and Territories, and towards all Belligerents whatsoever with whom we are at peace, the duties of Neutrality; and to respect, in all and each of them, the Exercise of Belligerent Rights.

And We hereby further warn all Our loving Subjects, and all Persons whatsoever entitled to Our Protection, that if any of them shall presume, in contempt of this Our Royal Proclamation, and of Our high Displeasure, to do any Acts in derogation of their Duty as Subjects of a Neutral Power in a War between other Powers, or in violation or contravention of the Law of Nations in that behalf, as more especially by breaking, or endeavouring to break, any Blockade lawfully and actually established by or on behalf of either of the said Powers, or by carrying Officers, Soldiers, Despatches, Arms, Ammunition, Military Stores or Materials, or any article or articles considered and deemed to be Contraband of War according to the Law or modern Usages of Nations, for the Use of Service of either of the said Powers that all Persons so offending, together with their Ships and Goods, will rightfully incur and be justly liable to hostile Capture, and to the Penalties denounced by the Law of Nations in that behalf.

And We do hereby give Notice that all Our Subjects and Persons entitled to Our Protection who may misconduct themselves in the Premises will do so at their Peril, and of their own wrong; and that they will in no wise obtain any Protection from Us against such Capture or such Penalties as aforesaid, but will, on the contrary, incur Our high Displeasure by such Misconduct.

Given at Our Court at Saint James's this twenty-third day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, in the sixty-first year of Our reign.

GOD save the QUEEN.

If under sail the canoe is distinguishable by the letter P on it, with the Pilot flag shown above; should the buoy be out of position, the usual signals from the flagstaff will be made.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE JAIL DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1897.

RESOLUTION.—No. 13P.D.

JAILS.

Dated Darjeeling, the 30th May 1898.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Jail Department for the year 1897.

READ also—

The Reports for the years 1895 and 1896, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel D. W. D. Comins held charge of the Department throughout the year. The report which was due on the 15th April, has been submitted with commendable punctuality. Statement No. VI (Judicial), showing the offences committed by the convicts and the punishments inflicted on them, has been amended in accordance with the orders of the Government of India contained in the letter from the Home Department, No 316, dated the 20th July 1897, a copy of which was communicated to this Government with the Home Department endorsement No. 317 of the same date. The effects of the famine of 1896-97 are plainly visible in the statistics of Jail Administration during the year under review.

2. Judicial statistics.—No change was made in the classification and number of central and district jails during the year. The conversion of the subsidiary jail at Angul into a third class district jail was sanctioned in Government order No. 464P., dated the 12th February 1897, but it has been treated as a subsidiary jail in the present report. It should, in future reports, be shown as a district jail. The following table shows the total number of prisoners of all classes confined in the jails and subsidiary jails of the Province during 1897 and the preceding ten years:—

	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1892.	1893.	1894.	1895.	1896.	1897.

The total number of prisoners admitted rose from 92,701 to 116,270, and the daily average population from 17,499 to 19,554. Notwithstanding the special release of 3,796 persons on the occasion of the celebration of the completion of the sixtieth year of Her Majesty's reign, the average daily jail population exceeded that in any of the preceding ten years. The increase, which was largest in Bihar, Orissa and Chota Nagpur, is mainly attributable to the pressure occasioned by the scarcity and high prices of food-grains which prevailed throughout the greater part of the year. The number of convicts admitted direct increased from 35,843 to 43,834.

The following table shows the districts which furnished the highest ratio of convicts per mille of population:—

The lowest ratio is shown by Rangpur (·27), Purnea (·31), Dacca (·32), Noakhali (·33), Dinajpur (·34), and Balasore (·35).

The following statement is interesting as showing the extent to which there was an increase of crime in the districts officially declared distressed:—

In every one of these cases the increase in the ratio of convicts admitted to the district population was most marked.

3. Releases.—The following table compares the number of releases under the various heads during the past eight years:—

" on other grounds	7	9	6	9	5	...	5	3,978

* Excluding one moribund prisoner who was released under Rule 534 (a) of the Jail Code and included as a death.

The increase in the number of prisoners released on expiry of sentence is due to a larger number of convicts passing through the jails. It is satisfactory to note that the ratio per cent. of prisoners released on appeal has fallen from 5·72 in 1895 and 4·83 in 1896 to 4·70 in 1897; but, considering the probable character of the increased number of cases resulting in conviction in a year of scarcity, it would be rash to conclude that this connotes an improvement in the quality of judicial work. The percentage was, however, very high in Rangpur (17·57), Burdwan (11·89), and Shahabad (11·76), and demands the attention of the Magistrates of these districts. Of the 3,978 prisoners released "on other grounds," 3,796 were liberated on the occasion of the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty's reign. The number of prisoners transported from Bengal jails was 116, the same as in the previous year. The number of death-sentences carried out during the year was 15 against 21 in 1896.

4. Classification of convicts.—The number of Burman convicts in the Bengal jails at the close of 1897 was 243 against 287 on the 31st December 1896. The health and conduct of these prisoners were on the whole fairly good. Of the 43,834 convicts admitted direct into jail, 26,034 or 59·39 per cent. were Hindus, 15,140 or 34·55 per cent. Muhammadans, 360 or ·81 per cent. Christians, and 206 or ·47 per cent. Buddhists. The number of juvenile prisoners admitted rose from 402 to 590, of whom 495 were males and 95 females. This increase was to be expected in a year of scarcity. The number of boys confined in the reformatory schools at Alipore and Hazaribagh was 553 against 529 in 1896. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that Magistrates will make free but judicious use of the provisions of section 31(1) of the Reformatory Schools Act, VIII of 1897, under which youthful offenders, who do not belong to or consort with the criminal classes may, it is hoped, be restrained from evil courses without being sent to a Jail or a Reformatory. The total number of female convicts admitted direct into jail was 2,030 against 1,318 in 1896, the ratio per cent. of such convicts to total admissions being 4·6 against 3·7 in the preceding year. Generally speaking, the number of female prisoners appears to have been small in the part of Bengal in which Muhammadans form a large proportion of the population and the parda system is most extensively observed. The statistics relating to the avocations followed by the male convicts previous to their admission into jail show that 22,958 or 52·36 per cent. belonged to the cultivator class against 20,325 or 58·87 per cent. in the previous year. The greatest increase was among persons whose occupations are unclassified, including daily labourers, who feel the pressure of scarcity most severely of all.

The following table classifies the convicts admitted direct into jail according to length of sentence, showing the percentage on the total number sentenced for each class:—

Length of Sentence.	1896.		1897.

The above statement shows that short-term prisoners with sentences of six months and less formed nearly 75 per cent. of the total admissions, against nearly 73 per cent. in 1896. The number of prisoners sentenced to simple imprisonment was 2,761 against 2,423 in 1896, and to rigorous imprisonment 41,073 against 33,420. Solitary confinement and whipping were combined with rigorous imprisonment in 124 and 283 cases respectively against 139 and 277 in the previous year.

5. Re-convictions, whippings, &c.—The total number of re-convictions increased from 4,436 to 5,247, but the ratio per cent to total convictions fell from 13·10 to 11·97. The decrease in the ratio was to be expected in a year in which the pressure of scarcity drove many of the non-criminal classes to commit petty crime. The Bertillon system of anthropometry and the system of taking finger impressions, recently brought into operation, facilitated the identification of old offenders in 492 cases against 334 in 1896. The number of prisoners sentenced to imprisonment for bad livelihood rose from 1,723 in 1894, 2,129 in 1895 and 2,245 in 1896 to 2,468 in 1897. The number of judicial whippings was 4,422 against 2,226 in 1896 and 1,930 in 1895, and of these more than 4,000 were not combined with a sentence of imprisonment. Nearly 78 per cent. of the total whippings were inflicted in cases of theft. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to impress upon Magistrates the salutary effect a sentence of whipping has in certain classes of cases. Of the persons subjected to this punishment, 14 were entered as being between 45 and 50 years of age and 3 as exceeding that age. The sentences of whipping passed in the cases of these persons, if the ages noted are correct, were in contravention of the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, to which the attention of all magisterial officers was recently drawn by Government. The Inspector-General will now be asked to submit a list of these cases for the orders of Government.

6. Under-trial prisoners.—The total number of under-trial prisoners admitted during the year was 47,376, as compared with 34,340 in 1896 and 31,211 in 1895. Of the total number admitted and those who were in jail at the commencement of the year, 26,844 or 55·10 per cent. were convicted and 17,068 or 35·03 per cent. released, as compared with 50·04 per cent. convicted and 38·92 per cent. released in 1896. The increased percentage of convictions was to be expected, considering the class of cases most prevalent in a year of famine. As in the case of the convicts, the number of admissions as well as the daily average number of under-trial prisoners in 1897 exceeded the record for the past decade. This will be commented on later on in this Resolution. The mortality among the under-trial prisoners was abnormal in 1897, the number of deaths being 93 against 40 in 1896 and 45 in 1897. Fifteen under-trial prisoners, including one female, escaped during the year, and six were re-captured, against nine escapes and six re-captures in 1896. The figures relating to the average detention of under-trial prisoners are far from satisfactory in both sessions cases and cases in the magisterial courts. The average period of detention in sessions cases was 47·54 days against 46·01 days in 1896, 44·35 days in 1895, and 39·99 days in 1894, while in the cases before Magisterial courts, it was 16·17 days, as compared with 13·77 days in 1896, 12·96 days in 1895 and 11·96 days in 1894. The Lieutenant-Governor notices this steady annual increase with much regret, and trusts that a marked improvement will take place during the current year when the volume of business with which Magistrates have to deal may be expected to be much less than during 1897. The following table shows the fourteen districts in which the average detention in cases under trial before Magistrates exceeded 15 days, with the corresponding figures for the preceding two years :—

District.	Average detention in days.
	1897.	1896.	1895.
1	2	3	4

Mymensingh ...	15·63	13·78	12·53
Shahabad	15·41	13·50	16·79

In these cases a report will be called for from the District Officers as to whether there were special reasons to account for the unusually long average period of detention.

7. Civil and State prisoners.—There were 59 civil prisoners in confinement at the close of 1896, and 765 were admitted during the year, making a total of 824. Of these 10 were transferred and 763 released, leaving 51 confined at the end of the year. One civil prisoner escaped from the Gaya Jail, but was recaptured and sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment. The number of State prisoners was 12, of whom 8 were received during the year: all belonged to Madras. One of them died of heart disease in the Bhagalpur Central Jail, and the remaining 11 are reported to be in good health.

8. Jail buildings.—The total expenditure upon major and minor works and repairs in jails and subsidiary jails during the year amounted to

Rs. 1,68,332, excluding the sum of Rs. 13,205 expended on the Reformatory Schools at Alipore and Hazaribagh and the hajuts at Jagatsingpur and Mokutpore. Much damage was done to jail buildings by the great earthquake of the 12th of June 1897. Almost every jail from Mymensingh to Monghyr and from Jalpaiguri to Chittagong felt its effects. The preliminary estimate for repairing this damage amounted to Rs. 49,835, and it was accordingly found necessary to defer several of the more important projects it had been contemplated to undertake. Among the latter were the construction of additional barracks and cubicles in the Bhagalpur and Buxar Central Jails, schemes for water-supply in the Buxar, Dacca and Hazaribagh Central Jails, extension of the jail compound at Mymensingh, improvement of ventilation in the wards and hospital in the Gaya Jail, and the construction of a new jail at Angul. A sum of Rs. 30,000 was spent on minor works and Rs. 14,000 on sanitary improvements. Forty additional cubicles were constructed in the Bhagalpur Central Jail, and three rows of five cubicles were put up in one of the upper-storey wards of the Presidency Jail.

9. Guards and Escapes.—The temporary conversion of the third class district jails at Suri and Purulia into first and second class district jails respectively necessitated the increase of the warder guard of the Province to 234 head-warders and 1,508 warders, including 112 apprentice warders, and 47 warder recruits, the figures for the preceding year being 233 head-warders and 1,377 warders. The grant of grain compensation allowances and other concessions while the scarcity lasted facilitated the obtaining of recruits, although comparatively of inferior class and poor physique. The discontinuance of these concessions since the beginning of the current year has, it is reported, revived the discontent among the recruits and lowest grade warders, and has been followed by the resignation of many of them. The Inspector-General has submitted a proposal for increasing the subsistence allowance paid to the warder recruits, which is now under consideration.

In the number of departmental offences committed by warders the increase was inconsiderable, but in the more serious offences dealt with by the Courts there was an increase from 37 to 64. There is, moreover, still a tendency among many of them to combine and display an insubordinate spirit. Combinations among warders are reported to have taken place in the jails at Bankipore, Malda, Ranchi and Chuadanga, and to have been put down with some difficulty.

In reviewing the Jail Administration Report for 1895, Sir Alexander Mackenzie expressed his willingness to consider any representation which the Inspector-General of Jails might put forward for the improvement of the jail warder service. Sir John Woodburn fears, from the facts reported, that its present state is most unsatisfactory, and trusts that the Inspector-General of Jails will submit well-considered proposals at an early date.

The number of escapes among convicts was 31 against 13 in 1896 and 23 in 1895. Of these 16 were from inside the jail and 15 from outside. Twenty-six of the prisoners were recaptured during the year, besides two who had escaped in previous years.

10. Prison discipline.—The following table shows the nature of offences committed by convicts during the year as compared with 1896:—

The larger number of offences recorded, as compared with 1896, is due to the increase in the jail population. Excluding warnings, the number of punishments awarded during the year was 28,346 against 26,870 in 1896 (which was the lowest figure since 1890) and 28,581 in 1895. As compared with the daily average population, however, the ratio of punishments in each of these years was as 1·63, 1·69 and 1·84 respectively to 1. The number of warnings rose from 8,678 to 10,060. The number of whippings inflicted was 232 against 223 in the preceding year. The ratio per cent. of whippings to total punishments was highest in the jails at Puri (2·41), Hooghly (2·24), Muzaffarpur (1·56), Bankipore (1·42), Midnapore (1·33), Mymensingh (1·23), Hazaribagh (1·10) and Barisal (1·01). In 14 jails corporal punishment was not inflicted at all. Fetters were imposed in 7,870 cases against 7,708 in 1896.

11. Convict officers, mark remissions, &c.—A daily average of 926 male and 9 female convict officers were employed during the year, as compared with 952 and 17, respectively, in 1896. The number of prisoners released under the mark system was 5,306 against 5,090 in 1896. Besides the 3,796 prisoners released at the time of the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee, 8,928 convicts were granted partial remissions of sentence on that occasion.

Relief was granted from the Claude Martin Fund to 2,117 prisoners on release as against 1,530 in the preceding year.

12. Expenditure.—The gross expenditure on jails and subsidiary jails during the year as compared with the expenditure in 1896, is shown below:—

	1896.	1897.
	Rs.	Rs.
Establishment	4,70,216	4,94,829
Dietary charges	5,00,470	7,42,835
Hospital charges	92,061	95,644
Clothing and bedding	79,866	74,981
Sanitation charges	27,019	32,730

Travelling allowances	6,350	7,386

Charges on live-stock, tools and plant ...	22,301	31,603
Petty construction and repairs ...	28,257	24,340
General supervision	59,142	53,559
Total ...	14,38,139	17,13,964
Public Works Department ...	1,54,464	1,68,332

The principal increase is that of nearly two and-a-half lakhs under the head "Dietary charges," which is due to the larger jail population and to the higher prices paid for food. The main cause of the increase in establishment charges was the grant of grain compensation allowance to the warder staff. The gross cost per head of average population amounted to Rs. 83-11 as against Rs. 77-3 in 1896; a smaller increase than might have been expected considering the great rise in the price of food-grains during the first eight or nine months of the year. Deducting the average cash earnings, the net cost per head works out to Rs. 73-8 as against Rs. 66-6 in 1896.

13. Average prices of articles of diet.—The following table shows the average rates paid for the principal articles of diet in 1897, as compared with the corresponding rates during the preceding five years:—

	1897.	1896.	1895.	1894.	1893.	1892.

Salt	4 0 0	3 11 10	3 11 7	3 13 7	3 11 5	3 11 6

The considerable rise in the prices paid for all the articles, except meat, which shows a slight reduction, is due to the general scarcity that prevailed during the year.

With the exception of the Arrah Jail, the expenditure per prisoner in all the jails was higher than in the previous year. It was, as usual, highest of all in the Presidency European Jail and in the Darjeeling Jail. The increase of expenditure in the Burdwan, Jalpaiguri, Dacca, Midnapore, Dinajpur, Barasat, Chittagong and Chapra Jails was principally due to the issue of animal and extra food to the weakly prisoners. The high prices paid for food-grains sufficiently explain the increased cost in other jails; but in these also a larger quantity of the better kinds of food than usual had to be issued owing to the great increase in the number of prisoners admitted in poor health and condition.

15. The following table shows the average cost per prisoner in each jail, calculated on the expenditure under the three controllable heads of "Diet," "Hospital Charges" and "Clothing," and the death-rate per mille of all admissions, together with the average cost per prisoner and the death-rate of all the jails collectively:—

The statement shows, as in previous years, that no general conclusions can be drawn as to the relation between the death-rate and the average expenditure incurred on each prisoner.

16. Employment of prisoners, and manufactures.—The daily average number of prisoners under sentence of labour on working days was 17,096 against 15,696 in the preceding year. The average number of sick, convalescent and infirm fell from 2,093 to 2,079, while the number not employed for other reasons rose from 113 to 202, and of those employed on unremunerative labour from 919 to 1,002. The average number engaged on various prison duties increased from 5,423 to 5,725, and on jail buildings from 978 to 1,256. In accordance with recent orders limiting extramural employment, the average number of prisoners so employed was only 61. The average number employed on manufactures increased from 6,001 to 6,771, but there was a slight falling off in the percentage of convicts thus employed to the total number sentenced to labour from 38·86 to 38·43. The net profits from manufactures amounted to Rs. 4,36,842, and the average profit per head sentenced to labour to Rs. 25-8 against Rs. 5,13,295 and Rs. 32-11, respectively in 1896. In that year, however, the original value of the existing stock of the Presidency Jail was raised by Rs. 76,863; and if this sum be deducted, the results of 1896 would not be very different, being Rs. 4,36,432 and Rs. 27-13, respectively. In 1895 the corresponding figures were Rs. 4,16,810 and Rs. 27-2.

17. Average earnings in Central Jails.—The following table compares the average earnings per prisoner sentenced to labour in Central Jails during the past two years:—

In the Buxar Central Jail manufactures were carried on on an extensive scale, with remarkable success, under the skilful supervision of the Officiating Deputy Superintendent, Babu Naurange Marwari. No less than 3,214 tents manufactured in this jail were supplied to Government departments during the year. The profits amounted to Rs. 1,02,725 against Rs. 91,334 in 1896. The average earnings per prisoner sentenced to labour in this jail have steadily risen from Rs. 51-6 in 1894 to Rs. 93-2 in 1897. The printing industry in the Presidency Jail was placed at some disadvantage in consequence of the release of nearly 200 trained prisoners on the occasion of the Diamond Jubilee. The Lieutenant-Governor notices, however, that the average earnings have steadily fallen each year since 1893, when they amounted to Rs. 121-14, till they now stand at only Rs. 79-4 per head. The spinning mill in the Alipore Jail could not be worked for three months in the beginning of the year as a new engine was being set up. In spite of this, the manufacturing results compared favourably with those of former years, and the aggregate value of manufactured articles supplied to the Commissariat and other departments amounted to Rs. 2,30,533 against Rs. 1,22,036 in 1896. The Midnapore Central Jail shows a satisfactory progress, and the profits amounted to Rs. 22,652 against Rs. 20,624 in 1896. The principal industry carried on in the Dacca Central Jail is the manufacture of chaukidari clothing. After the first rush to supply chaukidars with uniforms, fewer orders were received, with the result that the profits fell from Rs. 24,047 to Rs. 18,932. In the Rampur Boalia Jail the favourable terms offered by the Northern Bengal State Railway for the supply of castor-oil increased the profits from Rs. 4,104 to Rs. 8,549-8. In the Bhagalpur Central Jail machine work in the woollen factory had to be suspended from the 12th June 1897 for the rest of the year, as the chimney was so much damaged by the earthquake that it had to be entirely rebuilt, and a new engine had also to be erected. This caused a reduction in the profits from Rs. 31,541 to Rs. 14,279. In the Hazaribagh Central Jail the profits amounted to Rs. 6,750 as compared with Rs. 5,572 in 1896. The ordinary profits from district jails rose from Rs. 79,904 to Rs. 86,494. The question of utilising to the best advantage the large quantity of convict labour available, especially in the Central Jails, is one which demands constant attention. The varying results obtained in the different Central Jails shows that there is much room for progress in this respect, although it is recognised that this must be limited to some extent by the nature of the plant already set up at much expense and of the accommodation available.

18. Quinine and its distribution.—This industry was started in the Alipore Jail in December 1892, and has proved to be a profitable one. The number of 5-grain powders prepared and packed during the year was 4,511,288 against 3,776,958 in 1896, although a daily average of only 26 prisoners was employed on this work. The profit amounted to Rs. 5,326. The boon is great to those to whom, through the medium of the Post-office the drug is made easily accessible.

19. Subsidiary Jails.—On the re-establishment of the Chuadanga subdivision, in the district of Nadia, a new subsidiary jail was opened in that place from the 1st April 1897. The total number of subsidiary jails in the Province, however, remained the same as in the previous year, as the subsidiary jail at Angul was converted into a district jail during the year. Seven of the subsidiary jails are reported not to have been visited the prescribed number of times, and explanations will be called for from the Superintendents concerned. The total expenditure on subsidiary jail buildings amounted to Rs. 9,399 against Rs. 5,632 in 1896. A large portion of this amount was spent in repairing the damages caused by the earthquake. The number of convicts admitted direct rose from 16,275 to 19,301. Twenty-five convicts, or 63·3 per mille of the average daily population, died during the year against 11 and 32·2 respectively in the preceding year. The total number of under-trial prisoners admitted during the year was 21,404 against 15,981 in 1896. The average detention of such prisoners was 13·71 days as compared with 13·07 days in the preceding year. This average, it may be noticed, was lower than that at head-quarter stations. The longest average detention occurred in Gobindpur (24·28 days), Raniganj (21·86 days), Sasaram (20·49 days) and Diamond Harbour (20·28 days). The number of deaths among under-trial prisoners rose from 7 to 32, or from 11·5 to 39·4 per mille of the average daily number. The increase in the ratio of deaths both among convicts and under-trial prisoners was due to the bad state of their health when they were admitted. This may be inferred from the fact that the average period of detention of the convicts was only a week and of under-trial prisoners only a fortnight. Their health cannot therefore be affected by the rigours of jail discipline. Dysentery and diarrhœa caused 21 deaths and cholera 12. The number of civil prisoners admitted fell from 16 to 11. Of the 13 convicts and the same number of under-trial prisoners who escaped during the year, 12 and 6 respectively were re-captured; one convict who had escaped in a previous year was also caught. The total expenditure rose from Rs. 1,20,200 to Rs. 1,45,602, but the average gross expenditure per prisoner, excluding charges on account of public works and petty construction and repairs, fell from Rs. 117-0-1 to Rs. 108-12-8, against Rs. 81-14-10 in the case of district and central jails. The net profits from manufactures amounted to Rs. 4,071 against Rs. 4,028 in 1896.

20. Accommodation and food.—The central and district jails are capable of accommodating 17,883 convicts, 1,067 under-trial prisoners, and 347 civil prisoners, or in all 19,297 prisoners. Notwithstanding the relief afforded by the Jubilee remissions, there was overcrowding in many of the jails from time to time in consequence of the increase in the jail population and the reduction of accommodation on account of the damage caused by the earthquake, and temporary sheds were constructed to meet the requirements. The dieting of the prisoners, many of whom were admitted in an ill-nourished condition and feeble health, received careful attention. So poor was the condition of many on admission that they immediately gained weight when put on jail diet, and the percentage of convicts discharged during the year who lost weight in jail was only 14·6 as compared with 16·8 in 1896, while 62 per cent. gained weight as compared with 58·8. Animal food, fish, and other expensive articles of diet were issued liberally with a view to improving the health of the prisoners. Great attention was also paid by the Superintendents of jails to growing vegetables in the jail gardens. The cultivation of China and Roman cabbages was attended with varying success; potatoes and onions were grown abundantly, and efforts are being made to preserve these articles for use at a season when good vegetables are hardly available.

21. Water-supply, other Sanitary Improvements, &c.—The scheme for the water-supply of the Buxar Central Jail could not be brought to a completion, as the funds allotted for it as for other works were utilized in repairing the damage caused to jail buildings by the earthquake. For the same reason the installation of Pasteur-Chamberland filters in certain jails was postponed.

The water-works at Hooghly were completed and the arrangements for water-supply at Hazaribagh are approaching completion. The reports on the effect of the use of the Pasteur-Chamberland filters on the health of the prisoners in the Motihari, Dumka and Bogra Jails show that in all three jails there has been a diminution in bowel-complaints, but the Inspector-General is of opinion that "the observations are too few and extend over too short a time to be able to draw any definite conclusions." The chemical and bacteriological examinations of water for the Jail Department were conducted by Surgeon-Captain C. H. Bedford, Chemical Examiner to Government, whose services are acknowledged by Dr. Comins.

In regard to the scale prepared by Dr. Buchanan showing the weight of prisoners in relation to height, the following remarks reproduced from the present report are interesting:—

"For practical purposes the following formula for readily computing the normal approximate weight of a prisoner of a certain height may be of service to jailors in apportioning task-work:—

'Taking 5 feet to be equal to 100lbs., add 3lbs. for every inch up to a height of 5 feet 8 inches. For heights above this, add 4lbs. per inch.'

"The above formula has already been in use in the Emigration Department as a rough test of health of coolies in the West Indies. It has also been used as a standard in comparing the health of prisoners admitted to jails in the famine districts with prisoners admitted in former years. By placing the prisoner's normal weight, as taken from the above table, with the figures of weight on admission on the history ticket, the Jail authorities can see at a glance whether the physical condition of the prisoner is below or above par. This is done in the Central Provinces."

Fewer sanitary improvements were carried out during the year owing to limited funds. Arrangements were made for better ventilation in the hospitals and sleeping wards in the Presidency, Motihari, Bhagalpur and Muzaffarpur Jails, and in the tent factory at the Buxar Central Jail. Sheds were constructed in the Buxar Jail to afford protection from the sun to the prisoners while at work. Ventilated flooring was provided in the Faridpur and Buxar jails to remove damp. The compound of the Comilla Jail was greatly extended by throwing back the enclosure wall. Other minor improvements were also effected.

A sum of Rs. 4,825 was distributed among 49 Civil Hospital Assistants employed in the Jail Department as rewards for good work done by them during the year. The Inspector-General points out that under the existing system of employment of medical subordinates in jails the best results cannot be expected, and that the remedy lies in the selection and training of young Civil Hospital Assistants who will remain permanently in the service of the Department and will look to it for promotion and advancement. This is a question which should be dealt with separately, and any proposals which Dr. Comins may submit on the subject will receive due consideration.

22. Sickness and mortality.—The following table shows the mortality among prisoners of all classes (including under-trial prisoners) both in jails and in subsidiary jails for each year, as well as for each decade, from 1844 to 1897:—

Year.	Daily average number of prisoners.	Daily average sick.	Ratio per mille of daily sick.	Number of deaths— From cholera.	From all other causes.	Total number of deaths.	Death-rate per mille of average strength— From cholera.	From all other causes.	From all causes.	Remarks.

The death-rate per mille rose from 27·3 in 1895 and 28·7 in 1896 to 35·0 in 1897. The general health of the Province was better than usual during the two former years, which were exceptionally dry in the autumn, the season when malaria is most prevalent in a fatal form. Except for the deterioration in the physique of the people caused by the famine, the public health continued good in the early part of the year. Everywhere, however, malarial fevers of a bad type became prevalent in the autumn after the heavy rains that characterized the latter part of the monsoon. These diseases were more fatal than usual, attacking as they did constitutions weakened through privations and insufficient and unsuitable food. This was most marked in Chota Nagpur, where, as noticed in the Resolution of this Government upon the famine, the aboriginal tribes evinced a reluctance to come on to relief works, preferring an independent life of extreme privation while subsisting on jungle products. Dysentery of a persistent type was the inevitable result in that part of the province, as also in some other districts, and Dr. Nott of Hazaribagh remarks upon the great difficulty of checking this disease when induced by such circumstances.

These remarks apply to the public health generally, but the conditions were usually prevalent in an aggravated form among those who were impelled to commit crime by want and reluctance to accept State relief under the prescribed tests, and so found their way to the jails. These causes, and a severe outbreak of cholera, which will be noticed below, produced an unusually high mortality in the jails of Chota Nagpore; and even where actual famine did not prevail, the privations resulting from the unprecedentedly high prices of the necessaries of life that ruled everywhere, tended to increase the fatality of disease. Nevertheless, as will be seen below, if we exclude Chota Nagpur, the jail mortality was not abnormally high in most of the districts in which State relief was undertaken on an organized scale. Indeed Sir John Woodburn considers it a matter of congratulation that in a year characterized by such unfavourable circumstances, the general death-rate in the jails was lower than any on record except 1887, 1890, 1891, 1893, 1895 and 1896. The true test of the attention paid to the health of prisoners is to be found in the mortality among convicts confined in the Central and District Jails, and the death-rate among these in 1897 was only 33·3, or, excluding mortality from cholera, only 30·8 per mille.

The ratio of daily average sick per mille to daily average population among convicts fell from 39·6 to 36·2. The highest ratios were recorded at Chapra (93·3), Jessore (90·6), Chaibassa (89·2), Motihari (79·6), Purnea (76·1), and Malda (72·9), and the lowest at Puri (11·0), Naya Dumka (11·6), Khulna (13·3), and Balasore (15·8).

The prophylactic treatment of malarial disease by the sulphate of cinchonidine, combined either with the sulphate, or the tincture of perchloride, of iron, has continued to be attended with beneficial results, and the almost unanimous opinion of the Medical Officers is that, if it does not lessen the incidence of malarial fever, it diminishes the duration and severity of the pyrexia. Experiments are being made with cinnamon powder as a preventive against bowel complaints.

To the extended use of prophylactics Dr. Comins is disposed to attribute the reduction in the number of deaths from malarial fever from 58 to 54 in spite of the large increase in admissions into hospital from 4,643 to 5,989. Dysentery and diarrhœa accounted for 5,786 admissions to hospital and 222 deaths, as compared with 5,291 admissions and 134 deaths in 1896. The largest number of deaths from these diseases occurred in the Midnapore, Bhagalpur and Hazaribagh Central Jails and the District Jails at Bankura, Barisal, Ranchi, Purulia and Chaibassa. The largely increased proportion of deaths to admissions is, no doubt, attributable to the great difficulty experienced in checking famine dysentery, of which Dr. Nott of Hazaribagh speaks. The admissions and deaths from diseases of the respiratory organs were 907 and 137 respectively, against 998 and 107 in 1896. The jails which suffered most in this respect were Alipore, with 144 admissions and 17 deaths, and Hazaribagh, with 39 admissions and 13 deaths Anæmia and debility show an increase in the number of admissions from 234 to 284, but the number of deaths fell from 20 to 15.

The number of admissions from cholera decreased from 112 to 81*, and the number of deaths from 60 to 46*. Half the deaths occurred in the Hazaribagh and Daltonganj Jails, and Ranchi and Purulia, also in the same division, contributed seven more. In these jails the death-rate from this disease per mille of daily average strength was 11·7, 164·4, 26·2, and 10·5 respectively, whereas in 1896 there was only one death from cholera in all the jails of the Chota Nagpore Division. The interesting account given by Dr. Comins in regard to the cases of cholera in these jails is reproduced below:—

"At Hazaribagh the first case occurred in July in an under-trial prisoner who had been for three days in the segregation camp outside the jail. He came from a cholera-infected area. The first case on jail premises occurred in the family of a jail officer, the disease being probably brought from a neighbouring village, where it prevailed severely, as well as in the town and round the jail lands, and continued for some months. The precautions taken to prevent the disease spreading to the jail were the formation of a segregation camp outside for new arrivals and under-trials, issue of boiled water to under-trials for use while at court. Sulphuric acid was given to all prisoners every morning. Drinking-water reservoirs were frequently washed with permanganate of potash, and wells were disinfected. After the first cases the source of supply of water was changed twice. The wards were fumigated, scraped and lime-washed. One hundred and eighty prisoners were inoculated. No prisoners so inoculated were attacked. There was no doubt as to the nature of the disease, for the comma bacillus was cultivated in two or three instances. Under-trial prisoners were most severely affected. Out of one batch of 17, 8 died within 36 hours of admission. Altogether there were 26 cases and 19 deaths of cholera, and six cases choleraic diarrhœa and two deaths. At Ranchi the first case occurred in an under-trial prisoner attending the court, and who slept in the segregation ward, where all newly admitted prisoners were kept for ten days. He was attacked in this ward after return from court. Three days afterwards another prisoner in the same ward showed the disease. Altogether there were 15 cases and 10 deaths. All the cases were segregated in the outer grounds, and a camp prepared at a distance of four miles, which was not however used, the disease having subsided. Inoculation was commenced 10 days after the first case. Three hundred and sixty-nine prisoners were inoculated. The results added nothing to the knowledge of the prophylactic value of inoculation, as the only cases occurring more than 24 hours after they were begun were in recently—admitted under-trial prisoners from cholera-stricken villages, who had not been inoculated. * * *

"At Daltonganj there were two outbreaks. In the first, which lasted from 6th to 26th July, no importation could be traced, but cholera was prevailing in an epidemic form in the bazar and adjacent villages. There were 4 prisoners attacked, of whom 2 died. The prisoners occupying the affected barrack were removed to tents in the outer grounds. The second outbreak lasted from the 16th to 28th September. The source of the infection is believed to be an under-trial prisoner admitted in very bad health, who suffered from diarrhœa. The occupants of the barrack were removed to tents in the outer grounds, and, on further cases occurring, 50 prisoners were removed to a camp about two miles off. Altogether there were 22 attacks and 13 deaths."

The total number of deaths among convicts in jails and subsidiary jails [including one moribund prisoner released under Rule 504(a) of the Jail Code], was 591 against 461 in 1896 and 418 in 1895, and the death-rates per mille of daily average strength were 34, 29 and 26·9 respectively. Of the convicts who died 138 or 233·5 per mille were admitted in good health, 188 or 318·11 per mille in indifferent health, and 265 or 448·39 per mille in bad health. Among under-trial prisoners there were 93 deaths against 40 in 1896 and 45 in 1895, and the death-rates were 43·6, 25·9 and 33·4 respectively. As in the case of subsidiary jails, discussed in paragraph 19 of this Resolution, the disproportionately high death-rate among under-trial prisoners was due to the bad state of their health on admission.

* In paragraph 114 of his report, the Inspector-General gives the numbers as 90 admissions and 60 deaths, but Statement No. XV shows the correct figures to be as stated above.

24. Jails with the highest mortality.—The following table shows the jails in which the highest mortality among convicts occurred:—

	Death-rates from all causes per mille.		Death-rates exclusive of cholera per mille.
	1897.	1896.	1897.	1896.
1	2	3	4	5
Daltonganj	315·1	168·0	150·7	168·0

Malda	65·8	63·1	65·8	63·1
Bankura	60·4	43·6	60·4	39·0

The highest ratio of mortality is shown by the jails at Daltonganj, Ranchi and Purulia, the first of which is situated in a district in which the prices of food-grains exceeded the normal by a higher proportion than in any other district in the Province. Close after these comes Chaibassa, and the only jail in the Chota Nagpur Division not having an unusually high death-rate is the Hazaribagh Central Jail, which is mainly filled from outside the division. The following remarks made by Surgeon-Captain Nott apply to all these jails:—

"The inhabitants of a district where food supplies of an inferior description can readily be obtained from the jungles can at first stand failure of ordinary crops better than the inhabitants of thicker populated districts, yet at the end, if real famine occurs, they become weakened and readily succumb to disease.

"A very large proportion of these local admissions were in a more or less famished condition, and quite a considerable proportion came into hospital either as under-trials or shortly after conviction."

These remarks are specially applicable to the Chota Nagpur Division, where jungle products are abundant, and the statement below shows that of twelve districts outside that Division in which famine was officially declared to exist, the jail death-rate was above 40 per mille only in Chapra, Bankura, Krishnagar, Muzaffarpur and Motihari:—

Jalpaiguri is classed for the first time with the healthy jails with no mortality, and great credit is due to Dr. Clarke, the Superintendent of that Jail, for the improvement effected. It is also satisfactory to find the jails at Dacca, Berhampore, Rampur Boalia, Arrah, Dumka, Pabna, Bankipore, Burdwan and Barasat included among the jails showing the lowest mortality.

25. Inspections.—Dr. Comins visited 37 Central and District Jails, 11 Subsidiary Jails and the Reformatory Schools at Alipore and Hazaribagh. The number of visits paid by all classes of official visitors was 2,084 as compared with 2,207, and by non-official visitors was 349 against 361. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that visitors, both official and non-official, will not allow their interest to flag.

26. Officers of the Department.—Among the Medical Officers specially commended by the Inspector-General are Dr. R. Macrae at Dacca, Dr. J. ffrench-Mullen at Rampur Boalia, Dr. W. F. Murray at Arrah, Dr. R. L. Dutt at Hooghly, Dr. U. C. Mukherjee at Malda, Dr. A. H. Nott at Hazaribagh, Dr. F. P. Maynard at Ranchi, Dr. R. R. H. Whitwell at Bankipore, Dr. W. J. Buchanan at Buxar, Dr. W. Clarke at Jalpaiguri and Assistant Surgeon Behari Lall Pal at Rangpur. The Inspector-General acknowledges the valuable assistance constantly rendered by the Superintendents of Central Jails, and makes particular mention of the services of Mr. A. D. Larymore among Superintendents, and of Mr. J. Stewart and Babu Nauranga Marwari among Deputy Superintendents.

The acknowledgments of the Lieutenant-Governor are specially due to Dr. Comins for the thoroughly efficient manner in which he has continued to administer the Department and for the interesting report submitted by him.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Jails for information and guidance.

Ordered, also, that a copy of this Resolution and a copy of the report be submitted to the Government of India in the Home Department.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about ·05° greater; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office, during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograp and from observations made at 6h , 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All tl thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at th Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four fe above the ground.

The Barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 8 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed i the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

APPENDIX I.

UNDER-CLOTHING, bedding, wearing apparel, mattresses, carpets, etc., which are contaminated or suspected, should be disinfected in stoves at normal pressure or at a pressure of from one and-a half to two degrees, with or without the presence of steam.

Before a stove is passed as efficient for the purposes of disinfection, it should be subjected to a test, with the aid of a signal thermometer, showing the moment when the temperature in the middle of a mattress rises to at least 100° (centigrade).

To ensure that the disinfection is effective, this temperature must be maintained for from 10 to 15 minutes.

Disinfecting solutions—

(a) Solution of corrosive sublimate, of 1 part in 1,000, with the addition of 10 parts of chloride of soda.

The solution should be coloured with aniline dye or indigo. It should not be placed in metal vessels.

(b) A 5 per cent. solution of pure crystallized carbolic acid, or 5 per cent of crude commercial carbolic acid, in a warm solution of soft soap.

The carbolic solutions will be useful, more particularly for disinfecting articles, such as metals, instruments, etc., which can neither be subjected to a temperature of 100° centigrade, nor placed in contact with corrosive sublimate. They may also be used at ports not provided with a disinfecting stove of the prescribed pattern.

HIGH COURT NOTICES.

Application for payment.

37. Persons desiring to draw money deposited in Court and payable to them shall submit to the Chief Ministerial Officer of the Court by which the money is held in deposit an application in Form No. 7, or, in the case of a rent deposit, in Form No. 8. One copy of such form shall be supplied free of charge. In this form the applicant shall enter all particulars necessary for the identification of the credit. If it is intended to withdraw more than a single item of deposit by one application, the amount of each item and the number of each deposit must be distinctly stated.

Audit of application.

38. The Chief Ministerial Officer shall compare the application with the record of the case if it be in the Court and carefully test the validity of the claim. If he finds that the name of the payee has been correctly given, and that there is no objection to the payment of the money on the ground of attachment or otherwise, he shall make enquiry as to the identity of the applicant, and, if satisfied of such identity, shall sign the certificate at the foot of Part I of the application, and pass on the application so signed to the Accountant of the Court or group of Courts. Such Accountant shall compare the contents of the application with the Register of Deposit Receipts, and shall satisfy himself that the amount as shown has been received and is still unpaid, and that the name of the claimant corresponds with the name of the payee entered in the register and that no order for the attachment of the money is in force. "If the record be in some other Court, the application shall be dealt with in the manner prescribed by Rule 44 post" (Rule No. 7 of 11th March 1892, Civil).

If the deposit has been transferred to an account particulars (Rules 91-92), such account particulars shall be deemed to be the Register of Deposit Receipts within the meaning of this and the next four rules.

In passing on the application to the Accountant, the Chief Ministerial Officer will of course note the order on the records of the case, so that a second claim for the amount may not be passed. Thus the records will be complete, and no duplicate application will need to be filed with them (Accountant-General's No. 101, dated 26th April 1881).

39[1]. If the record of the case has been despatched to the record-room of the District Judge under the orders of the High Court relating to the periodical despatch of records by Subordinate Judicial officers,* the presiding officer shall forward the application to the District Judge, whose record-keeper will certify, under countersignature of that officer, that a specified sum of money is due to the applicant. Such certificate on being received by the Subordinate Court shall then be treated as if it were a certificate granted by the Chief Ministerial Officer of such Court, as provided in Rule 38. The fact of the issue of the payment order shall in every case be communicated to the District Judge, in order that the necessary entry may be made in the record itself under his signature.

* See Rule 1, sub-rules 31-37, Chapter IV.

[1] Inserted by Rule No. 2 of 16th January, 1882.

40[2]. Whenever, after despatch of the record of a case to the district record-room, any Subordinate Court passes an order for the attachment of money in deposit in the case, intimation thereof shall be forthwith sent to the District Judge, together with a copy of the entries made in the Account Registers of the Subordinate Court, under Rule 72 of these Rules. The District Judge shall thereupon cause such information to be noted in the order sheet of the case as well as in the District Account Registers.

[2] Inserted by Rule No. 3 of 27th April, 1887.

44. When the application is for the withdrawal of money tendered to another Court, as, for instance, where two or more Courts at one station are combined for the purposes of accounts, in every such case the duty of the Court receiving the application shall be to forward it to the Court to which the money was tendered, and that Court shall, after examining the record, furnish the necessary certificate that the applicant is the proper party to receive payment of the amount claimed. In any case in which the amount has been transferred from the credit of the original payee to that of the claimant, the fact should also be stated, and the application returned to the Court from which it was issued. The certificate shall then be compared with the Deposit Register in the office of the Judge in charge.

SENATE HOUSE;
The 9th June, 1898.

EDUCATIONAL PROSPECTUS.

THE Calcutta Medical College Session, 1898-99, will commence on the 15th June next. Students who may be desirous of commencing their studies are requested to apply to the Principal between the hours of 11 A.M. and 4 P.M. on or before 1st June.

Those students who may be selected are expected to enter formally and commence attendance at the College upon the 14th, and none will be admitted at any later date.

2. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student who has not previously passed the First Arts examination of the Calcutta or an Indian University, or a preliminary Arts examination of the United Kingdom recognised by the British General Medical Council.

3. All matriculated students of the College must pay Rs. 15 on entrance, Rs. 35 on the 1st June, and Rs. 35 on 1st November of each year. Rs. 6 extra will be required from each student for each course of dissections. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

Muhammadan students are required to pay Rs. 15 on entrance and half fee, i.e., Rs. 17-8, per session. The remaining half fees are charged to the Mohsin Fund.

4. No free presentations will be awarded at the beginning of the session, but the fees shall be refunded to the 10 students who passed highest in all subjects at the end of their first year of study.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following:—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject in one year ...	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice ...	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a medical school in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance of lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule provided the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or, in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in paragraph 5. If he has passed the Entrance examination of the University, he shall receive certificates of attendance at lectures. If he has not passed the Entrance examination, he shall receive no class certificates.

8. At the end of their first year, students will be required to pass a college test examination in Anatomy, Chemistry, and Botany. Those who gain not less than 20 per cent. in two subjects, and not less than 15 per cent. in a third, will be eligible for promotion to the second-year class. Those who fail to gain the aforesaid percentage of marks will not be eligible for promotion, but will go through the first-year class again.

9. Students of the second year will be required to pass a College test examination in Anatomy, Physiology, and Materia Medica. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. in two subjects and 15 per cent. in a third will be entitled to go up in the following March or April for the Preliminary Scientific Examination of the Calcutta University, the subjects of which are Chemistry and Botany. Those who (after passing the College test) fail at the University examination will be entitled, equally with those who pass it, to join the third-year class, at the end of which the former will have to present themselves, as at present, for the combined Preliminary Scientific and 1st L.M.S. (or 1st M.B.) examination.

10. Those students who fail at the College test examination of the second year will not be debarred from going up for the Preliminary Scientific examination, but will be encouraged to do so in order to get that stage over; but whether they pass or fail at the University examination, they will be relegated for a further year to the second year-class, provided that those who pass the University examination will not be required to attend the courses in those subjects in which they have passed.

11. Students of the third year will present themselves for the 1st L.M.S. or 1st M.B. examination of the Calcutta University. Those who fail at this examination will be relegated for a further year to the third-year class.

12. Students of the first or second-year class who fail a second time, at the same stage, to gain promotion to the next higher class, will be removed from the College and will not be entitled to re-admission. Third-year students who fail a second time will be liable to removal from the College; but if they are specially recommended by the Principal, they may again be relegated to the third-year class, on payment of the fees laid down in Rule 16, and re-admitted to the 1st L.M.S. or 1st M.B. examination, and this concession may be allowed for any number of years at the discretion of the Principal.

13. Students of the fourth-year class will be required to pass a College test examination in Surgery, Medicine, Midwifery, and Medical Jurisprudence. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. of the marks in three subjects, and 15 per cent. in a fourth, will be eligible for promotion to the fifth-year class. Those who fail will be relegated to the fourth-year class for a further year. The examination in Surgery and Medicine will be both theoretical and clinical; but those students who can obtain from the Visiting Surgeon or Physician, to whose wards they have been attached, a certificate that they have really profited by their instruction in either subject, will be excused the clinical examination in that subject.

14. Students who fail at the 2nd L.M.S. or 2nd M.B. examination will have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they have failed, in accordance with the regulations of the University.

15. The Principal will determine the maximum number that may be admitted to the first-year class. Students who have failed at the test examination of the first-year will have a prior claim to re-admission over new students.

16. Students re-admitted to a class after failure at the test examination will be required to pay half the regular fee for the session (Rs. 35), but extra fees as for dissection (Rs. 6) in full. The half fee must be paid at the commencement of the session in June. Those, however, who, after failing either at the preliminary Scientific Examination or at the final examination, have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they failed, shall be required to pay for such lectures a fee of Rs. 20 for one subject, Rs. 30 for two, and Rs. 35 for three. Exceptions to this latter rule may be made in special cases by Director of Public Instruction on the recommendation of the Principal.

17. College prizes and certificates of honour are open for competition to matriculated students of the College, military medical pupils, and female certificate classes. College scholarships (vide paragraph 18) are awarded only to matriculated students of the College.

18. Junior scholarships of Rs. 8 per mensem and free tuition for one year are annually awarded to ten students of the second year, on the results of the Test and Honour examinations at the end of the first year.

Scholarships of the same value are awarded to ten students at the commencement of their third year, on the results of the Test and Honour examinations at the end of their second year, provided they have passed either the Preliminary Scientific L.M.S. or M.B. examination.

Ten senior scholarships of Rs. 12 per mensem and free tuition are awarded annually to students at the commencement of their fourth year, on the results of the Test and Honour examinations at the end of their third year, provided they have passed either the 1st L.M.S. or 1st M.B. examination. These scholarships are tenable for two years, provided the holder passes creditably the Test and Honour examinations at the end of his fourth year. In the event of any scholarship being forfeited under this condition, it may be awarded for one year to any student of the fifth year who has fulfilled the conditions and is not the holder of any scholarship. These scholarships shall not be awarded to students who have gained the Durga Charan Laha scholarship of Rs. 30 per mensem or any other scholarship.

Students who from any cause fail to pass their University examinations at their first chance are not eligible for any of these scholarships, either junior or senior.

NOTIFICATIONS OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE.

NOTIFICATION—No. 1196B.

WITH reference to clause 11 of the rules published in Notification by the Government of Bengal, No. 1225S.R., dated the 21st February 1898, the following rules are laid down to regulate the export of opium by sea from Calcutta:—

1. Opium may be exported by sea from the port of Calcutta if it has been purchased from the Government at a public sale held by the Board of Revenue, and is covered by a pass or certificate granted by the Board. A certificate is a document authorising the Collector of Customs to allow the shipment of the opium specified in it. The currency of a certificate is four days, exclusive of its date of issue, and exclusive of Sundays and Custom House holidays. No pass or certificate for the export of opium will be issued on the same day on which the opium has been sold.

2. Shipping bills for exportation of opium must be printed in red ink and presented at the Custom House in duplicate, accompanied by a certificate in such form as the Board may direct. The duplicate on which the pass is granted will be returned to the shipper to obtain delivery from the opium godown, the original being forwarded to the gate officer on the wharf to expedite the passing of the opium out of the Custom House.

3. If any opium covered by a certificate is not removed from the Presidency Godowns within a period of four days from the date of the issue of the certificate, the holder of the certificate must, within 24 hours next after the expiry of the said period, apply to the Board of Revenue for a fresh certificate.

4. If any opium has been removed from the Presidency Godowns within the said period of four days, and has been passed out by the Customs authorities for export, but has not been shipped within the said period by reason of the opium being shut out from the ship in which it was intended to be shipped, or for any other reason, the shipper must, without delay, apply to the Board for a fresh certificate, and must, pending the issue of such certificate, either (a) return the opium to the Presidency Godowns, with the permission of the Collector of Customs, or (b) keep it, with the permission of the said Collector, under sealed hatches at a mooring ghât to be fixed by the Superintendent of the Calcutta Customs Preventive Service.

5. A charge of ten rupees shall be made for the services of the Customs Officer deputed to supervise the returning of opium to the Presidency Godowns, or the sealing of hatches, in pursuance of rule 4 of these rules.

6. (a) Save as provided by clause (c) of this rule, on ordinary working days, no treasury receipt in payment of opium, and no pass, will be accepted by the Board after 3-30 P.M., and no certificate will be granted after 4 P.M.

(b) Save as aforesaid, on Saturdays, no receipt or pass will be accepted after 1-30 P.M., and no certificate granted after 2 P.M.

(c) A fee of five rupees will be charged on every pass or certificate which may be required to be granted after 4 P.M. on ordinary working days, and 2 P.M. on Saturdays.

(d) A certificate is not transferable, and no one but the person named on the face of it by the Board will be entitled to export opium on it.

7. The certificates granted by the Board are to be returned to the Board, within thirty days, duly cancelled.

8. A fee of five rupees will be charged to a shipper on presentation of shipping bills after 4 P.M. on the day of clearance of the China steamer.

9. Opium intended for export, which is not cleared from the godowns before 4-30 P.M., shall be conveyed to the steamer or ship from the ghât opposite the opium godowns in covered cargo-boats with properly secured hatches.

10. As soon as the Intendant is aware that clearances will be made after 4-30 P.M., he shall make immediate report to the Collector of Customs, who will at once appoint one or more Preventive Officers, as may be necessary, to be in attendance at the ghât at which the cargo-boats lie. In his report the Intendant shall mention the probable number of chests which will be removed during the evening; and each day, as long as clearances are going on, he shall furnish the Collector of Customs with a similar report.

11. The Preventive Officer at the ghât shall examine all boat-notes and chests, and see the latter placed in the hold of cargo-boat. He shall then secure and seal, with a distinctive mark, the hatches or other openings or doors of the cargo-boat by which access may be had to the hold, before allowing the boat to proceed to the steamer or ship. He shall also make an entry in the boat-note, specifying that the hatches or other openings or doors have been sealed.

12. The Preventive Officer on board the receiving steamer or ship shall carefully examine the seals affixed to the hatches or other openings or doors of a cargo-boat laden with opium, as soon as the boat arrives alongside the vessel, and shall not allow the seals to be broken in any case until he is prepared to receive the opium on board, and to superintend the removal of the chests from the hold of the cargo-boat.

13. If it appears to the Preventive Officer on board the receiving vessel that the seals placed on the hatches or other openings or doors of a cargo-boat have been broken in transit, or have been in any way tampered with, he shall immediately bring the matter to the notice of the officer in charge of the vessel, and shall examine each chest carefully. If any theft of opium is discovered, the Preventive Officer shall make an immediate report to the River Police and to the Collector of Customs, mentioning at the same time the number of the cargo-boat and the name of the owner and manjhi.

14. A shipper who removes his chests of opium from the Government premises after 4-30 P.M. shall be required to pay a fee of two rupees for any number of chests up to twenty; three rupees for any number of chests above twenty and up to fifty; and five rupees for any larger number of chests.

15. The fees mentioned in rule 14 shall be realized by the Intendant before delivery of chests to the shippers, and shall be remitted daily by him to the Superintendent, Customs Preventive Service, for the remuneration of Preventive Officers, who may be employed beyond the usual working hours.

16. An application for the delivery of opium chests shall not be received by the Intendant after 9 P.M.

17. When a requisition for the delivery of chests is presented to the Intendant between the hours of 5 P.M. and 9 P.M. on ordinary working days, or between the hours of 2 P.M. and 9 P.M. on Saturdays, he shall require the payment of a fee of sixteen rupees in respect of the requisition, and a further fee of two annas in respect of each chest delivered.

18. The procedure described in rules 8 to 15, both inclusive, is enjoined especially in the case of opium cleared from the godowns after 4-30 P.M., but it may, on application by the shipper to the Intendant, be allowed in the case of opium cleared before that time.

APPOINTMENT OF A COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER THE ADVISABILITY OF AMALGAMATING THE DOVETON AND LA MARTINIERE INSTITUTIONS.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Darjeeling, the 11th June 1898.

RESOLUTION No. 91T.—G.

READ—

Government order Nos. 1189-90, dated 28th March 1898, to the Honorary Secretaries of the La Martinière and the Doveton Colleges.

The minutes of an extraordinary meeting of the Governors of La Martinière, held on 23rd April 1898, with reference to the above Government order.

A letter dated the 21st May 1898, from the Honorary Secretary of the Doveton Institutions, being the reply of the several members of the Doveton Society to the above Government order.

Read also—

The award of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sale, dated 4th March 1898, and the previous connected correspondence on the subject of the interpretation of certain rules of the Doveton Society.

For some time past the important subject of the secondary education of Eurasians and domiciled Europeans in Bengal has occupied the attention of Government, and the means of increasing the educational advantages afforded by the two great public endowed schools of Calcutta—La Martinière and the Doveton Colleges—formed a special subject for consideration during the recent Lieutenant-Governorship of Sir Alexander Mackenzie. The discussion of the proposals suggested for the attainment of the object desired was long delayed by regrettable differences of opinion in the management of the Doveton Institution, but on the arrival by the conflicting parties at a common understanding through the arbitration of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sale, the late Lieutenant-Governor was enabled to address the governing bodies of both Colleges, inviting the nomination by each of members of a representative Committee to discuss how far by joint and mutual co-operation the general improvement of the two institutions might be attained. The scheme suggested was the amalgamation of the two Colleges on lines to be decided in the light of the deliberations of the Committee who were to report upon the feasibility of the proposal and the best method of carrying it into effect. To that invitation replies have now been received from both Colleges, signifying their willingness to appoint the following representatives for the discussion of the suggested scheme of amalgamation :—

Mr. C. E. Buckland, C.S.	On behalf of La Martinière College.
Brigade-Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel Joubert ...
Mr. J. H. Belchambers	On behalf of the Doveton College.
Mr. A. E. Mendies

These nominations His Honour is now pleased to accept, and, as already intimated, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Stevens has consented, at the request of the Lieutenant-Governor, to preside over the meetings of the Committee, with which Sir John Woodburn would also desire to associate Mr. Peake, the Inspector of European Schools.

2. It now remains for the Committee to meet and discuss the proposals before them. It is open to the Committee to take the evidence of any person whose opinion they may consider as likely to assist their deliberations, and Government will also place at their disposal such papers as they may wish. Sir John Woodburn does not doubt that the members will come to the consideration of the subject with an open mind.

3. It is recognised that for many years the two Colleges of La Martinière and the Doveton have carried on with efficiency, and at a standard which compared not unfavourably with corresponding schools in England, a large share of the work of secondary education in Calcutta, but in recent years the institutions, from causes for which they are not altogether responsible, have fallen behind. At a time when the demands for appliances and specially qualified teachers have been greatly increased by the modern advance in the standard of secondary education, the Colleges have been confronted with the competition of newly-opened hill schools. There has been a consequent loss of fees, and this diminution of income has been immediately followed by a reduction in the interest on the capital invested in Government securities. The Colleges have been at the same time handicapped by much unavoidable expenditure on the up-keep of extensive buildings and the payment of heavy municipal rates, and it is not under these circumstances a matter for surprise that it should have been found impossible to obtain the necessary funds for the provision of the equipment and teaching staff which are required by modern ideas and modern standards of secondary education. To remedy this state of affairs, which with every successive year must become more serious and pressing, Sir Alexander Mackenzie suggested the amalgamation of the two institutions, with its resultant economy in staff and premises, and its accompanying gain in discipline and efficiency. That there are difficulties in the realisation of any such scheme is recognized, but the Lieutenant-Governor sees no reason to believe them insurmountable.

4. The original objects of both institutions were largely similar. The Martinière College was the creation in 1836 of an endowment left by General Claude Martin for the establishment of a school for the benefit of the children of the Christian population of Calcutta. The scheme provides for the gratuitous education of children of parents in indigent circumstances, but of the middle classes of the population, and for the education of children more favourably circumstanced on the payment of prescribed fees. It was especially provided, by a meeting of the Governors in 1835, that the school should not be placed under any particular denomination of Christianity, and that no points which are in controversy between the different Churches should be touched upon in the course of the instruction given. Similarly, the Doveton College was the outcome of a general movement in 1823 of a body of Anglo-Indian Christian parents to secure the benefits of a liberal education for their children. Subsequent legacies have enabled the Society to provide education for selected pupils upon the different foundations, but, like the La Martinière, the benefits of the Society were expressly open to Christians of every denomination, and with reference to the conflicting claims of different Christian communities, it was provided that no precise religious character should be fixed for the institution, such principles only of religion being inculcated as are common to all forms of Christianity, without reference to the points which distinguish one denomination from another.

5. The original intention of the founders of both institutions having thus been the provision of a liberal education to the members of the same class without distinction of religion or creed, the Lieutenant-Governor would express a strong hope that petty differences of detail may not be allowed to stand in the way of arriving at a common understanding as to some broad scheme of amalgamation, on lines which, by uniting the resources of the two Colleges, will enable them to provide that standard of European education which it was the intention of their founders to give, but which under existing conditions it is practically impossible that either College alone can supply from its unaided resources.

Order—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to (1) the Honorary Secretaries of the La Martinière and the Doveton Colleges, (2) Mr. Justice Stevens, (3) Mr. Peake, (4) the Director of Public Instruction.

Ordered also, that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

LIBERALITY OF RAJA SIR SOURENDRA MOHAN TAGORE, K.T., C.I.E.

No. 114T.—M., dated Darjeeling, the 13th June 1898.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

READ—

A letter from the Secretary to the Plague Commission, Calcutta, No. 2031, dated the 25th May 1898, submitting, for the information of Government, a copy of a letter from Raja Sir Sourendra Mohan Tagore, KT., C.I.E., in which he offers to place at the disposal of the Commission a house belonging to him at No. 10, Brojo Dullal's Street in Calcutta, for use as a Plague Hospital, as long as it may be necessary, for the people living in his immediate neighbourhood, including the residents of Natun Bazar. The Raja also offers to pay Rs. 1,000 for the equipment and maintenance of the hospital.

Read also—

A letter from the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, No. 41M., dated 6th June 1898, in which he brings to notice that, in a letter addressed to him, the Raja has further offered to place his garden house at Sintee, on the Dum-Dum Road, with its extensive compound, at the disposal of Government for use as a Plague Hospital or a Segregation Camp in case of necessity. The Raja has, it is further reported, addressed the Collectors of districts in which his estates are situated offering his help and co-operation in the matter of any anti-plague measures that may be found necessary.

The Lieutenant-Governor is extremely gratified at these instances of the Raja's liberality and public spirit, and desires to express his thanks for them. His Honour trusts that the example of liberality and charity set by the Raja may be followed by other wealthy men. A copy of this Resolution will be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF MAY 1898.

The chief features of the weather during May were—

(1) Pressure oscillated considerably during the month, especially in the first-half, when the oscillations were of considerable amplitude, while in the latter half the daily changes were generally small. The average pressure was slightly below the normal everywhere, the defect nowhere exceeding $\frac{1}{10}$th of an inch.

(2) Temperature, which was generally high at the beginning of the month, fell steadily during the earlier part of May: subsequent changes were irregular, though the readings were as a rule above the normal till the end of the month, when owing to a further considerable fall there was a general defect.

The highest maximum temperatures were 113·7 in Chota Nagpur, 113·5 in Bihar, and 112·3 in Lower Bengal.

(3) Rainfall was generally below the normal except in Bihar. Defect was, however, small in Bengal Proper, but considerable in Orissa and Chota Nagpur. At no station was the total rainfall great, the highest being Jessore with 14·71 inches, while Dhubri gave 13·19, Cooch Bihar 12·73, Sibsagar 11·69, and Mymensingh, Noakhali and Comilla between 10 and 11 inches.

(4) Weather was distinguished by the unusual uniformity of distribution of pressure over the Bay and the marked absence of stormy weather. There was no early advance of the monsoon current which usually characterises the month, and the only disturbance recorded was a small depression which formed off Diamond Island on the 6th of May and passed northwards into Burma, causing general, though not heavy, rain in Burma and affecting also parts of East and North Bengal.

Showery weather prevailed over the province, except during the middle portion of the month, when the prevalence of westerly winds in Bihar and the west of Bengal caused a period of steady fine weather. During the latter part of the month, however, more normal winds prevailed, and local north-westers, which, owing to adverse conditions had been comparatively rare in the earlier part of the season, increased in number and intensity.

At the beginning of the month pressure was very uniform over the Bay, and winds were south to south-east over the province. Temperature was high throughout, excess amounting to as much as 7° in the northern provinces, while ordinary hot-weather conditions prevailed. On the 2nd there was a moderate fall of pressure throughout; but as the fall was greatest in the north-west of the province, gradients became steeper over Bengal in the northern districts. On the 3rd conditions remained practically unaltered, and though temperature now began to fall at western stations, there was a large excess over the normal. Over the Bay no indications of possible disturbance were apparent, although the wind changed round at Diamond Island to the north-east. Temperature continued to fall during the next two days, and rainfall became slightly more general. The north-easterly winds which had continued steadily at the Burma stations began to increase in strength, and this, taken in conjunction with the rapidly falling barometer in that region, seemed to point to the probable formation of a local disturbance. These conditions led to the development on the 6th of a cyclonic storm of considerable severity, the force of the wind at Diamond Island rising to 30 miles an hour. The storm moved in a northerly direction and finally crossed the Burma coast to the south of Akyab on the 7th. A moderate amount of rain accompanied its transit into Burma on that day, and heavier falls followed in its wake on the two subsequent days, its influence making itself felt as far as North and East Bengal; and though the actual depression filled up very quickly, its effects did not entirely disappear till the 11th of the month.

Among other effects due to the disturbance may be noted a general fall of temperature which extended to almost all parts of the province, and which continued till about the 12th of the month, on which date we find that the mean temperature had at last been reduced to a level approximately to the normal.

From this date, however, a change came over the conditions hitherto prevailing. Pressure rose over the whole area on the 13th. The character of the rise, diminishing as it did from the north-west towards the south-east, was such as to bring about a remarkably even distribution over the whole of the Bay, the difference between the pressure in the south of the Bay and that over the land area of Bengal being unusually small. The area of relatively lowest pressure was by this redistribution pushed gradually to the north, and the consequent effect was the ushering in of dry west winds, and the gradual introduction of fine hot weather into the province. These conditions were fully formed by the 14th or 15th of the month, and with the easy gradients and consequently light winds prevailing, weather assumed a settled character. Temperature naturally increased during this period, and though night temperature diminished to a slight extent in Bengal at the first advance of the dry west wind, the upward tendency soon affected them as well, excess reaching ultimately some 8° in their case, while for day temperature it amounted to as much as 10.°

Local storms disappeared almost entirely under these adverse conditions, while rain was practically confined to Burma. During this period of fine weather there were frequent oscillations of pressure, but the range was exceedingly small. The distribution, however, underwent a gradual change, and from running almost due east and west, the isobars gradually began to take a direction more normal to this period of the year, i.e., from south-west to north-east. Extremely light gradients, however, still prevailed, and the line of relatively lowest pressure practically encircled the whole of the province, thus giving continued existence to the westerly winds in Bihar.

From the 23rd, however, the gradients began to become steeper owing to rising pressure in the south, and the area of lowest pressure being thus gradually forced westward, the ordinary winds of this season i.e., south-east to east, began to set in. Pressure continued to rise steadily but irregularly up to the 28th, gradients becoming pari passu steeper throughout the province, and this with the unevenness of the distribution gave rise to strong local winds. The excess above the normal on the 27th varied from 86 to 104 thousandths of an inch. During the latter portion of the month local storms were, owing to the favourable conditions obtaining, extremely prevalent, and partook for the most part of the true character of north-westers.

A steady fall of temperature naturally accompanied the other conditions of this latter period, and on the 27th readings were almost everywhere in considerable defect. On the 28th then the conditions of pressure were high pressure everywhere with steep gradients over the province, and a uniform distribution, which had been maintained throughout, over the Bay. On the 29th a complete change set it. Pressure collapsed over the whole area, but by amounts diminshing from north to south, so that the distribution became more uniform over the province than it was before. A further fall on the next day re-established the previous inclinations, and a small rise on the 31st left the gradients as before with, however, a general pressure approaching as closely as possible to the normal. Considerable rain fell during the last three days of the month, and temperature was in considerable defect at the end of the month.

It will thus be seen that the month divides itself naturally into three periods of almost equal length. During the first there was a general fall of pressure; winds were easterly in direction, and showers were fairly prevalent, while temperature which had been in large excess at the beginning fell. During the second period after a small initial rise, pressure changes were slight; winds were westerly; fine hot weather prevailed, and there was an almost complete absence of local storms. During the third period the barometer rose steadily till within a few days before the end of the month. Winds again became easterly, and temperature fell steadily, while local storms grew more numerous and intense.

Pressure changed rapidly at the beginning and the end of the month. In both cases the change was a fall. After the disturbance on the 6th and 7th pressure rose moderately, and during the period of fine weather in the middle of the month, it remained practically steady, while during the third period it rose continuously up to the 29th, when the fall mentioned above took place. On the whole average pressure for the month was below the normal at all stations.

Temperature fell during the first and third periods and rose during the second. At the beginning of the month it was excessive except at one or two stations, the greatest excess being in the north of the province, and amounting to over 11 degrees at Bhagalpur. At the end of the month, on the other hand, there was general defect except in Burma, whence slightly excess readings were reported. The greatest defect was in the north-west, the temperature in North Bihar being generally over 10° below the normal. Average mean temperature for the month was, however, in excess at all stations except Motihari and Sibsagar, where there was a deficiency in each case of less than 1°.

The variation in mean temperature was due to high day rather than night temperature, as the average of the latter was in considerable excess only in Chota Nagpur and was actually in defect over Bihar and parts of North Bengal.

Rainfall has on the whole not been much below the average, while in the case of Bihar there has been actual excess by ·001 inch. In East Bengal it has averaged about 80 per cent., while in North and South-West Bengal it amounts to nearly 90 per cent. In Orissa and Chota Nagpur, however, the rainfall has been considerably below the average, being nearly ⅔ in the former and ½ in the latter district.

The following table gives full data for comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of May for all districts of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-reporting stations in each district, due allowance being made for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the monthly tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the observations of the past 25 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfall of the month at the reporting stations in each district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage. The fourth column gives the same information as the third in a slightly different from stating as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied in excess or defect from the normal:—

NOTIFICATIONS OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE.

NOTIFICATION—No. 1196B.

WITH reference to clause 11 of the rules published in Notification by the Government of Bengal, No. 1226S.R., dated the 21st February 1898, the following rules are laid down to regulate the export of opium by sea from Calcutta:—

1. Opium may be exported by sea from the port of Calcutta if it has been purchased from the Government at a public sale held by the Board of Revenue, and is covered by a pass or certificate granted by the Board. A certificate is a document authorising the Collector of Customs to allow the shipment of the opium specified in it. The currency of a certificate is four days, exclusive of its date of issue, and exclusive of Sundays and Custom House holidays. No pass or certificate for the export of opium will be issued on the same day on which the opium has been sold.

2. Shipping bills for exportation of opium must be printed in red ink and presented at the Custom House in duplicate, accompanied by a certificate in such form as the Board may direct. The duplicate on which the pass is granted will be returned to the shipper to obtain delivery from the opium godown, the original being forwarded to the gate officer on the wharf to expedite the passing of the opium out of the Custom House.

3. If any opium covered by a certificate is not removed from the Presidency Godowns within a period of four days from the date of the issue of the certificate, the holder of the certificate must, within 24 hours next after the expiry of the said period, apply to the Board of Revenue for a fresh certificate.

4. If any opium has been removed from the Presidency Godowns within the said period of four days, and has been passed out by the Customs authorities for export, but has not been shipped within the said period by reason of the opium being shut out from the ship in which it was intended to be shipped, or for any other reason, the shipper must, without delay, apply to the Board for a fresh certificate, and must, pending the issue of such certificate, either (a) return the opium to the Presidency Godowns, with the permission of the Collector of Customs, or (b) keep it, with the permission of the said Collector, under sealed hatches at a mooring ghât to be fixed by the Superintendent of the Calcutta Customs Preventive Service.

5. A charge of ten rupees shall be made for the services of the Customs Officer deputed to supervise the returning of opium to the Presidency Godowns, or the sealing of hatches, in pursuance of rule 4 of these rules.

6. (a) Save as provided by clause (c) of this rule, on ordinary working days, no treasury receipt in payment of opium, and no pass, will be accepted by the Board after 3-30 P.M., and no certificate will be granted after 4 P.M.

(b) Save as aforesaid, on Saturdays, no receipt or pass will be accepted after 1-30 P.M., and no certificate granted after 2 P.M.

(c) A fee of five rupees will be charged on every pass or certificate which may be required to be granted after 4 P.M. on ordinary working days, and 2 P.M. on Saturdays.

(d) A certificate is not transferable, and no one but the person named on the face of it by the Board will be entitled to export opium on it.

7. The certificates granted by the Board are to be returned to the Board, within thirty days, duly cancelled.

8. A fee of five rupees will be charged to a shipper on presentation of shipping bills after 4 P.M. on the day of clearance of the China steamer.

9. Opium intended for export, which is not cleared from the godowns before 4-30 P.M., shall be conveyed to the steamer or ship from the ghât opposite the opium godowns in covered cargo-boats with properly secured hatches.

10. As soon as the Intendant is aware that clearances will be made after 4-30 P.M., he shall make immediate report to the Collector of Customs, who will at once appoint one or more Preventive Officers, as may be necessary, to be in attendance at the ghât at which the cargo-boats lie. In his report the Intendant shall mention the probable number of chests which will be removed during the evening; and each day, as long as clearances are going on, he shall furnish the Collector of Customs with a similar report.

11. The Preventive Officer at the ghât shall examine all boat-notes and chests, and see the latter placed in the hold of cargo-boat. He shall then secure and seal, with a distinctive mark, the hatches or other openings or doors of the cargo-boat by which access may be had to the hold, before allowing the boat to proceed to the steamer or ship. He shall also make an entry in the boat-note, specifyig that the hatches or other openings or doors have been sealed.

12. The Preventive Officer on board the receiving steamer or ship shall carefully examine the seals affixed to the hatches or other openings or doors of a cargo-boat laden with opium, as soon as the boat arrives alongside the vessel, and shall not allow the seals to be broken in any case until he is prepared to receive the opium on board, and to superintend the removal of the chests from the hold of the cargo-boat.

13. If it appears to the Preventive Officer on board the receiving vessel that the seals placed on the hatches or other openings or doors of a cargo-boat have been broken in transit, or have been in any way tampered with, he shall immediately bring the matter to the notice of the officer in charge of the vessel, and shall examine each chest carefully. If any theft of opium is discovered, the Preventive Officer shall make an immediate report to the River Police and to the Collector of Customs, mentioning at the same time the number of the cargo-boat and the name of the owner and manjhi.

14. A shipper who removes his chests of opium from the Government premises after 4-30 P.M. shall be required to pay a fee of two rupees for any number of chests up to twenty; three rupees for any number of chests above twenty and up to fifty; and five rupees for any larger number of chests.

15. The fees mentioned in rule 14 shall be realized by the Intendant before delivery of chests to the shippers, and shall be remitted daily by him to the Superintendent, Customs Preventive Service, for the remuneration of Preventive Officers, who may be employed beyond the usual working hours.

16. An application for the delivery of opium chests shall not be received by the Intendant after 9 P.M.

17. When a requisition for the delivery of chests is presented to the Intendant between the hours of 5 P.M. and 9 P.M. on ordinary working days, or between the hours of 2 P.M. and 9 P.M. on Saturdays, he shall require the payment of a fee of sixteen rupees in respect of the requisition, and a further fee of two annas in respect of each chest delivered.

18. The procedure described in rules 8 to 15, both inclusive, is enjoined especially in the case of opium cleared from the godowns after 4-30 P.M., but it may, on application by the shipper to the Intendant, be followed in the case of opium cleared before that time.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT ON LUNATIC ASYLUMS IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1897.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Calcutta, the 18th June 1898.

RESOLUTION—No. 3781Medl.

READ—

The report on the Lunatic Asylums in Bengal for the year 1897.

Read also—

The report for the year 1896 and the Resolution recorded by Government upon it.

THE report which was submitted by Surgeon-Colonel Newman was received by Government on 18th April, which is most satisfactory.

2. The number of patients in the five native asylums during the past two years and the main facts regarding them are shown in the following statement:—

	1896.	1897.
Remained on 1st January	921	918
Admitted and re-admitted	181	201
Total ...	1,102	1,119
Discharged cured	61	64
" improved	27	23
" not improved	2	8
" otherwise	4	11
Died	90	90
Total ...	184	196
Remaining on 31st December	918	923
Daily average strength	914	927

3. The total number of admissions was 183 against 156 in the previous year. An increase occurred in all the asylums, except Patna, where the number fell from 38 to 33, and was most marked at Dullunda, where an unusually large number of criminal lunatics was received. The number of re-admissions fell from 25 to 18, of which 7 occurred in the Dullunda asylum, comprising two cases of recurrent lunacy, two of lunatics sent back from jail, two re-admitted as non-criminal lunatics after being discharged from the criminal list, and one who had been made over to his friends as improved, but was found by them unmanageable. Of the 201 lunatics admitted and re-admitted to the five asylums during the year, 114 were criminals and 87 non-criminals against 104 and 77 respectively in the previous year. The criminal lunatics remaining in confinement on the 31st December 1897 numbered 485 against 477 at the end of 1896 and the non-criminal lunatics 442 against 441. Of the total number of criminal lunatics in confinement, 182 had been tried and acquitted on the ground of insanity, 269 were detained as incapable of making their defence, and 34 had become insane while in jail. The corresponding figures for 1896 were 191, 260 and 26. The statistics of the last eleven years show that the daily average strength of criminal lunatics has risen since 1887 from 390·88 to 480·62.

4. The number of discharges rose from 94 to 106. The increase of 10 at Dullunda is accounted for by the transfer of six lunatics to other provinces, and by the larger number who were made over to friends. The increase of 5 at Dacca is said to have been due to an unusually high proportion of recoveries. At Patna there was a decrease of 6 owing to a smaller number of improved cases having been made over to friends. Criminal lunatics are required under the rules to remain in the asylum for a probationary period after recovery, and at Patna several applications for the release of relatives had to be refused for this reason.

5. The accommodation available was sufficient in all the asylums, except that at Dullunda both the male and female wards were for a time slightly overcrowded, but on this being reported 34 males and 4 females were at once transferred to other asylums. The five asylums can accommodate 1,137 patients, allowing 50 square feet for each, but the number confined in any one night did not exceed 992.

6. Of the 201 admissions, 126 are classified under mania, 45 under melancholia, 7 under idiocy, and the remainder under various other types. Sixty-four are attributed to physical causes, 15 to moral causes, and in 122 cases the causes were unknown. Of the 64 cases attributed to physical causes, 25 are ascribed to ganja-smoking, 3 to spirit-drinking, 20 to heredity, 2 to fever, 6 to epilepsy, 1 to bhang, and 7 to other causes. There were 5 more ganja cases than in the preceding year, 9 being reported from Dullunda, 7 from Patna, 4 from Cuttack, 3 from Berhampore, and 2 from Dacca. A careful diagnosis was made in every instance. In most of the Dullunda cases, however, it is said that the patients were also addicted to opium or alcohol, so that ganja was not the sole cause of their insanity.

7. The number of admissions to hospital fell from 898 to 667, but there was again a considerable increase in the average daily number of sick, which rose from 84·64 to 128·57. The rise in the daily number of sick at Dullunda is ascribed by the Superintendent to the fact that a comparatively larger proportion of the lunatics admitted there were of an advanced age, and that the great majority of them were admitted in exceptionally bad health, due probably to the effects of the famine. The maintenance at Dullunda and the formation at Dacca of an "infirm gang," the members of which received special care and treatment without being sent to hospital, seems to account for the small number of admissions to hospital at those two asylums. The present Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals will be asked to consider whether this system, which his predecessor considered open to objection, should be maintained. It is satisfactory to notice that there was no cholera in any of the asylums, although several cases occurred in the neighbouring jails. The number of deaths amounted to 90, the same high figure as in the previous year. The death-rate, 9·70, was lower than that shown for the year 1896 by Bombay, but higher than that of Madras, the Punjab, North-Western Provinces, and Burma for the same year.

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to see that a variety of much appreciated amusements was provided in all the asylums.

8. The number of injuries and accidents was 14 against 16 in 1896 and were mostly of an unimportant character. At Dacca, however, a lunatic committed suicide by hanging himself from the gratings of the cell. A judicial enquiry was held and one of the warders found to have been guilty of negligence: he was, however, only reduced to a lower grade, as the evidence did not warrant a criminal prosecution. At Patna a lunatic was found with several ribs broken: a jemadar was reduced and a warder fined, but a special enquiry by the Magistrate failed to elicit what had happened. It is supposed he had been kicked by another lunatic. No escape took place from any of the asylums during the year.

9. The income and expenditure of the asylums for the past two years are shown below:—

The increase in the gross expenditure amounted to Rs. 15,878, and occurred chiefly under the heads of Public Works, Diet and Establishment Proper. The increase under the first-named head was chiefly due to repairs which were necessitated by the earthquake. High prices in consequence of the famine and the grant of grain compensation allowance mainly account for the larger sums spent under the other two heads.

10. The gross cost of each lunatic at the different asylums for the past two years and the cost per head of average strength are given in the following table:—

11. In the dairy farm at Dullunda there was a loss of Rs. 1,133-8-3, about which the Superintendent has been asked to submit a special report. The dairy at Dacca was improved, while that at Berhampore which was opened in 1896 did not yield very satisfactory results.

12. There were 17 persons admitted and 2 re-admitted to the European Asylum at Bhawanipur, a number in both instances identical with that of the preceding year, while there were 36 patients remaining from the previous year. Recoveries, as in the preceding year, numbered 6; 10 persons were transferred to the care of their friends and 4 died, thus leaving 35 patients under treatment at the close of the year. The daily average strength was 21·65 males and 15·73 females, and the largest number confined in any one night was 24 males and 17 females. There was thus no overcrowding, as the asylum can accommodate 23 males and 19 females. There were only 8 admissions to hospital, and the general health of the inmates was good. The total expenditure rose from Rs 21,269 to Rs. 21,772, but towards this Government contributed only Rs. 4,218 against Rs. 11,635 in the previous year, and the average cost of each lunatic fell from Rs. 369 to Rs. 114. The reason for this was the larger sum realized from paying patients, Rs. 17,543 against Rs. 9,424 in the preceding year, an improvement mainly due to the exertions of the Deputy Superintendent, Mr. Lawton.

13. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Surgeon-Colonel Newman for his clear and concise report, and to the various Superintendents for their efficient management of the asylums under them during the past year.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h , 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder.

NOTIFICATION—No. 1196B.

WITH reference to clause 11 of the rules published in Notification by the Government of Bengal, No. 1225S.R., dated the 21st February 1898, the following rules are laid down to regulate the export of opium by sea from Calcutta:—

1. Opium may be exported by sea from the port of Calcutta if it has been purchased from the Government at a public sale held by the Board of Revenue, and is covered by a pass or certificate granted by the Board. A certificate is a document authorising the Collector of Customs to allow the shipment of the opium specified in it. The currency of a certificate is four days, exclusive of its date of issue, and exclusive of Sundays and Custom House holidays. No pass or certificate for the export of opium will be issued on the same day on which the opium has been sold.

2. Shipping bills for exportation of opium must be printed in red ink and presented at the Custom House in duplicate, accompanied by a certificate in such form as the Board may direct. The duplicate on which the pass is granted will be returned to the shipper to obtain delivery from the opium godown, the original being forwarded to the gate officer on the wharf to expedite the passing of the opium out of the Custom House.

3. If any opium covered by a certificate is not removed from the Presidency Godowns within a period of four days from the date of the issue of the certificate, the holder of the certificate must, within 24 hours next after the expiry of the said period, apply to the Board of Revenue for a fresh certificate.

4. If any opium has been removed from the Presidency Godowns within the said period of four days, and has been passed out by the Customs authorities for export, but has not been shipped within the said period by reason of the opium being shut out from the ship in which it was intended to be shipped, or for any other reason, the shipper must, without delay, apply to the Board for a fresh certificate, and must, pending the issue of such certificate, either (a) return the opium to the Presidency Godowns, with the permission of the Collector of Customs, or (b) keep it, with the permission of the said Collector, under sealed hatches at a mooring ghât to be fixed by the Superintendent of the Calcutta Customs Preventive Service.

5. A charge of ten rupees shall be made for the services of the Customs Officer deputed to supervise the returning of opium to the Presidency Godowns, or the sealing of hatches, in pursuance of rule 4 of these rules.

6. (a) Save as provided by clause (c) of this rule, on ordinary working days, no treasury receipt in payment of opium, and no pass, will be accepted by the Board after 3-30 P.M., and no certificate will be granted after 4 P.M.

(b) Save as aforesaid, on Saturdays, no receipt or pass will be accepted after 1-30 P.M., and no certificate granted after 2 P.M.

(c) A fee of five rupees will be charged on every pass or certificate which may be required to be granted after 4 P.M. on ordinary working days, and 2 P.M. on Saturdays.

(d) A certificate is not transferable, and no one but the person named on the face of it by the Board will be entitled to export opium on it.

7. The certificates granted by the Board are to be returned to the Board, within thirty days, duly cancelled.

8. A fee of five rupees will be charged to a shipper on presentation of shipping bills after 4 P.M. on the day of clearance of the China steamer.

9. Opium intended for export, which is not cleared from the godowns before 4-30 P.M., shall be conveyed to the steamer or ship from the ghât opposite the opium godowns in covered cargo-boats with properly secured hatches.

10. As soon as the Intendant is aware that clearances will be made after 4-30 P.M., he shall make immediate report to the Collector of Customs, who will at once appoint one or more Preventive Officers, as may be necessary, to be in attendance at the ghât at which the cargo-boats lie. In his report the Intendant shall mention the probable number of chests which will be removed during the evening; and each day, as long as clearances are going on, he shall furnish the Collector of Customs with a similar report.

11. The Preventive Officer at the ghât shall examine all boat-notes and chests, and see the latter placed in the hold of cargo-boat. He shall then secure and seal, with a distinctive mark, the hatches or other openings or doors of the cargo-boat by which access may be had to the hold, before allowing the boat to proceed to the steamer or ship. He shall also make an entry in the boat-note, specifyig that the hatches or other openings or doors have been sealed.

12. The Preventive Officer on board the receiving steamer or ship shall carefully examine the seals affixed to the hatches or other openings or doors of a cargo-boat laden with opium, as soon as the boat arrives alongside the vessel, and shall not allow the seals to be broken in any case until he is prepared to receive the opium on board, and to superintend the removal of the chests from the hold of the cargo-boat.

13. If it appears to the Preventive Officer on board the receiving vessel that the sea placed on the hatches or other openings or doors of a cargo-boat have been broken in transit, have been in any way tampered with, he shall immediately bring the matter to the notice f the officer in charge of the vessel, and shall examine each chest carefully. If any theft f opium is discovered, the Preventive Officer shall make an immediate report to the River P ce and to the Collector of Customs, mentioning at the same time the number of the cargo oat and the name of the owner and manjhi.

14. A shipper who removes his chests of opium from the Government premises after 4-30 P.M. shall be required to pay a fee of two rupees for any number of chests up to twenty; three rupees for any number of chests above twenty and up to fifty; and five rupees for any larger number of chests.

15. The fees mentioned in rule 14 shall be realized by the Intendant before delivery of chests to the shippers, and shall be remitted daily by him to the Superintendent, Customs Preventive Service, for the remuneration of Preventive Officers, who may be employed beyond the usual working hours.

16. An application for the delivery of opium chests shall not be received by the Intendant after 9 P.M.

17. When a requisition for the delivery of chests is presented to the Intendant between the hours of 5 P.M. and 9 P.M. on ordinary working days, or between the hours of 2 P.M. and 9 P.M. on Saturdays, he shall require the payment of a fee of sixteen rupees in respect of the requisition, and a further fee of two annas in respect of each chest delivered.

18. The procedure described in rules 8 to 15, both inclusive, is enjoined especially in the case of opium cleared from the godowns after 4-30 P.M., but it may, on application by the shipper to the Intendant, be followed in the case of opium cleared before that time.

The sender of a postal article intended to be transmitted by post as value-payable shall write his name and address clearly on the article itself.

5. When the sum specified is recovered from the addressee, the amount for payment to the sender shall be remitted to him by means of a money-order. In the case of a value-payable unregistered parcel or book-packet, the whole amount specified for recovery shall be remitted to the sender; in the case of any other value-payable article, the amount specified for recovery, minus a fee calculated as in the rule preceding, shall be remitted.
